School District Needs $40,000 To Finish Year

The Monessen School District needs to borrow $40,000 to meet current expenses and debt service for the remainder of the 1956-57 school year.

A resolution authorizing the borrowing of the $40,000 was passed at a meeting of the School Board last night.

According to the resolution, the borrowing of the funds will "not exceed current revenues, consisting of taxes for the current year, delinquent taxes, licenses, fines and other revenues and receipts which in the judgement of the board are collectible within the current year."

The resolution further states that the School District is authorized to borrow the $40,000 without the assent of the electors because the net indebtedness of the district is less than two per cent of the total valuation of property taxable for school purposes.

The note will be paid from the proceeds of the first taxes and revenues received for the year 1956-57. The loan will be made from Mellon National Bank, Monessen.

Budget Date Set

Although it wasn't included in the resolution, the interest rate on the loan probably will be three per cent.

In other business last night, the board set April 30 as the date for the introduction of the proposed budget for the 1957-58 school year.

The board accepted the following applications for teaching positions: Frances Wasenick, of Belle Vernon, commercial subjects; English and Spanish; Eleanor Babich, of Homer City, commercial subjects; James F. Jesick, Jr. general science, mathematics and physics; Harrietta E. McCrow, of Monessen, elementary grades; Frank J. Cioce, of Herminie, history and English, secondary grades, and Dean L. Cressbrough of Monessen elementary grades.

Dr. Joseph Parlone superintendent, was authorized to purchase the necessary supplies, equipment and furniture for the district.

The board passed a motion transferring $1,775 from the general fund to the sinking fund to meet bond obligations due this month.

Judy Waite and Melba Jean Isaho will represent Monessen Junior High School at the Western District Junior High School Choral Festival to be held April 27 at Canonsburg High School. The district will pay the $3 registration fee for each.

The district will pay $382.31 as its share towards the retirement fund of a former instructor, R. Russell Forester. The payment will cover from Jan. 31, 1942, to April 16, 1947, when Forester was on military leave. Through some oversight, it was stated, formal military leave for Forester had not been included in the official minutes of the board when he left for service.

The building committee will make another inspection of the unused Iowa School building to determine if necessary repairs should

Ike Defends Programs of Administration

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today strongly defended the programs of his administration against criticism by conservatives in Congress—Republicans and Democrats alike.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference that this government cannot revert to the theories and practices of 1890. A Republican—Benjamin Harrison—was president in 1890.

The President said he did not believe that the difficulties encountered by some basic administration recommendations in Congress reflected a diminution in his own political power due to the automatic prohibition against his seeking another term.

He stated his beliefs at some lengths after a reporter told him his recommendations were running into stormy congressional weather among Republicans as well as Democrats.

A reporter specifically mentioned to the statement by Sen Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.) that the administration's big budget for fiscal 1958 represented a betrayal of the people's trust.

Parking Plazas Realize $4,622 In Five Months

The two downtown Monessen parking plazas have realized $4,622.40 in revenues in five months of operation, far below what is needed to meet operating expenses.

The Authority needs $21,000 in revenue a year to meet expenses, but according to the Authority's traffic engineer, Don McNeil, the Authority should not expect the plazas to operate on a "paying basis" for a "year or two."

City Treasurer John Spielman reported that $3,577.40 had been collected in parking fees since the plazas opened last November.

In addition $1,045 worth of tokens was deposited under the Park 'n Shop program, a plan whereby participating merchants distribute a free token worth one-half hour parking with purchases of $2 or more.

Tokens are redeemed by the Chamber of Commerce at the rate of $5.50 per 100.

Following are the month by month collection figures:

Month	Cash	Tokens
November	$ 121.20
December	1,166.29	11 721
January	505.46	4,180
February	765.40	1 500
March	819.05	1,700

Daylight Savings Approved

Monessen will operate on Daylight Savings Time from 2 a. m. Sunday, April 28, until 2 a. m. Sunday, Oct. 27, according to a resolution adopted by City Council at a brief meeting this morning.

Council also approved the proposed installation of two fire hydrants, one at the intersection of Moffat Ave. and Altman St. and the other at the intersection of Overhill Dr. and Jackson Dr. Fire Chief W. Roy McShaffrey made the recommendations.

Council will take under consideration a petition by 12 residents requesting that an alley between Graham Ave. and Athalia Ave. be made an open thoroughfare.

The engineering department of Linde Air Products Co., of Pittsburgh, which is in the process of erecting eight giant oxygen tanks on Pittsburgh Steel property at 11th St. and Donner Ave., informed Council by letter that the installation will be equipped with the latest and best safety devices.

Promise no Hazard

The letter said the type of equipment being installed is similar to many now located in several metropolitan areas, including Pittsburgh.

"The plant is designed to make it a "safe plant. . . and present no abnormal hazard to the City of Monessen," the letter concluded.

Federal and state mine engineers informed Council that one way to eliminate the mine fire hazards located below the surface of Lookout Ave. is to drill six-inch bore holes from the surface to the mine workings and then pour granulated slag mixed with water into the holes. Council took it under consideration and will invite the engineers to make a verbal report of the condition at a future meeting.

Councilman David Victoria said the following chores were performed by the Street Department as of today:

Paved the alley from Ninth St. to 10th St. between Marguerite St. and Maple Ave. with used bricks; placed 48-inch pipe across Seneca St. at Huran St. to prevent washing out the roads during heavy rains, and installed steel posts at the intersection of Grand Blvd. and Rostraver St. for the protection of property owners in the vicinity.

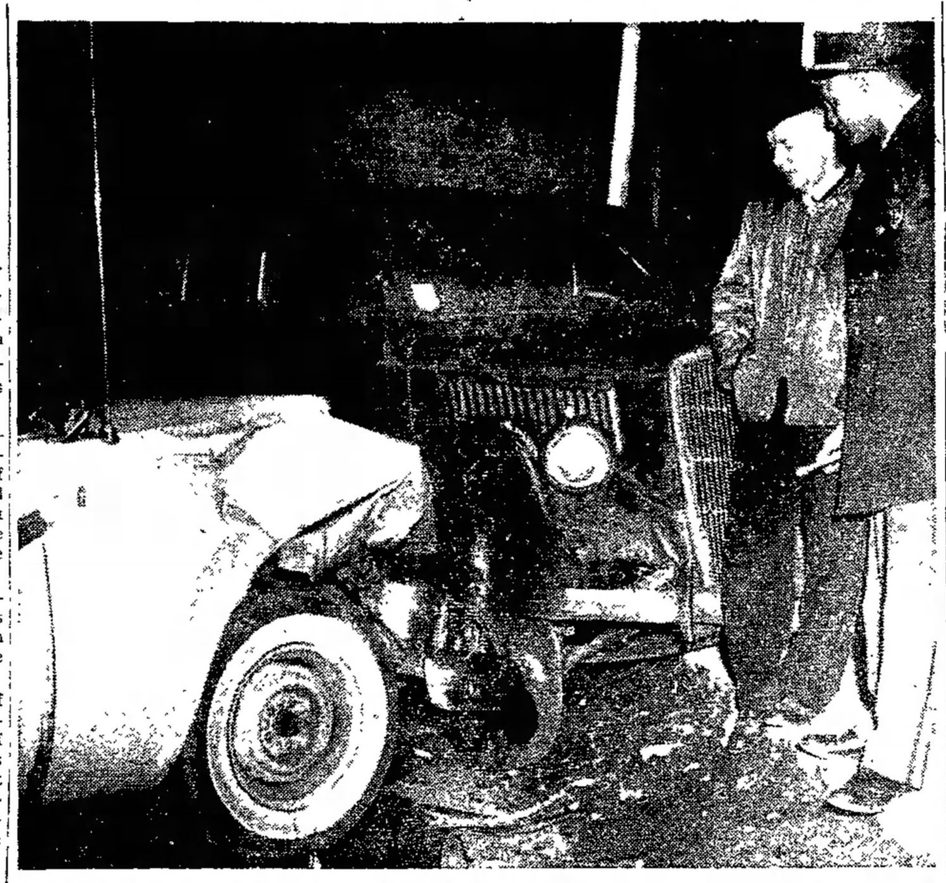
He said the department is now engaged in installing chain link fence at the Bon Air Terrace playground and building a retaining wall on Seneca St. to prevent private property from being washed out during heavy rains.

Sobles in Guilty Pleas to Spying

NEW YORK (UP)—Jack and Myra Soble pleaded guilty today to charges of conspiring to spy for Soviet Russia.

The New York husband and wife were specifically charged with conspiring to transport documents vital to the national defense of this country to Russia.

The pair face a possible maximum sentence of 10 years each in prison. They will be sentenced on May 3.



FIVE TEENAGERS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE — A 14-year-old driver and four companions were in the light-colored car last night when it went out of control on Sixth St., near the High School and came to a stop against a car owned by Lester Hunter, (left). Lt. Algie Link investigated. No one was hurt.

Reuther to Be Reelected Today; Dues Are Boosted

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP) — The 16th constitutional convention of the United Auto Workers Union re-elects Walter Reuther today for another term as president.

There was no sign of any opposition among the delegates to another Reuther term. Early this week an administration caucus endorsed Reuther and the union's four vice presidents and secretary-treasurer. Nineteen regional directors and two trustees also were to be elected during the afternoon balloting.

Four day work week edmands with higher take-home pay were endorsed Tuesday. The union adopted a resolution to hold a special convention next January to formulate demands for its new contract.

The convention also approved a 50-cents a month dues increase after long debate. It was the first dues boost since 1951 and brought the international dues to $3 monthly, although some locals pay higher rates among themselves.

Motorist Hurt When Auto Hits Trailer Truck

A Glassport motorist was hospitalized today when his auto ran into a steel-laden tractor-trailer truck on Route 51 about nine miles south of Elizabeth.

Reported in fair condition at Monongahela Memorial Hospital was Andrew Halas, 36.

He suffered a fractured ankle and facial cuts when his car crashed into a tractor-trailer operated by Jacob W. Rogers, 23, of Belle Vernon R. D. 2.

State Police said Halas was apparently travelling too fast for conditions. Both vehicles were headed north on Route 51.

Damage to the car was estimated at $2,800 and to the truck at $500. The mishap occurred at 12:10 a. m.

Breuer Succeeds Sance, Who Goes To Johnson Mill

Pittsburgh Steel Co. today announced a series of changes in its top executive ranks.

They include the elevation of Carl A. Breuer, of Belle Vernon, to be vice president-operations. Breuer is now general manager of operations.

He succeeds P. E. Sance, of Charleroi, who will become executive vice president of a Pittsburgh Steel subsidiary, Johnson Steel & Wire Co., of Worcester, Mass.

Joseph R. Carter, son of a former president of the company, will come to Monessen from Worcester as assistant to the vice president-operations. Carter has been in charge of the Johnson Steel & Wire operations.

Donald C. Duvall, of Monessen, will assume the title of assistant to the president in addition to his present position as vice president-industrial relations. Duvall is also a member of the board of directors.

Barber to Retire

E. Milton Barber, vice chairman of the board of Pittsburgh Steel, is retiring effective July 1. He will not be replaced in that position.

The other changes will take effect May 1 except in the case of Carter, who will assume his new position June 1.

According to the announcement by President Allison R. Maxwell, Jr., the major executive turnover was approved by the company's directors yesterday afternoon in Pittsburgh. The directors' meeting followed the annual meeting of stockholders in the morning.

Rumors concerning the forthcoming changes had been current in Monessen for several days, but the announcement had to await official action, according to well informed sources in the company.

Breuer, who will be the top operating executive of the company, including its subsidiaries, joined Pittsburgh Steel in 1938 as a time study engineer. He advanced through various industrial engineering positions in the Allenport and Monessen plants until he became assistant to the vice president-operations in 1951. He was made general manager for operations in 1955.

Carter from Sharon

Breuer was born in Pittsburgh and is a graduate of Carnegie Tech. Before joining Pittsburgh Steel, he was employed by Armco Steel Co.

Carter's career has closely followed that of his father, Joseph C. Carter, who retired as president of Pittsburgh Steel several years ago due to ill health.

After graduating from Penn State, the younger Carter went to work for Sharon Steel Co. in its open hearth department at Lowellville, O. His father also was associated with Sharon before joining Pittsburgh Steel.

The younger Carter became night superintendent of Sharon's Lowellville plant before joining the Navy for service in World War II. After the war, he affiliated with Pittsburgh Steel in its Products

B. Vernon Man Has Narrow Escape Monday

A Belle Vernon man is alive today because his car stalled.

Albert Harvey, 61, of 1006 Henry St., is recovering in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital from carbon-monoxide poisoning which almost claimed his life in a freak accident Monday.

Harvey, who lives alone, was repairing his car when his garage doors closed unnoticed. Before he was able to open the doors, Harvey fell to the garage floor unconscious.

Fortunately, the auto motor stalled, shutting off the death-dealing carbon-monoxide fumes.

Four and a half hours later, Harvey regained consciousness and dragged himself to a telephone. He was rushed oxygen and later taken to Charleroi-Monessen hospital.

A spokesman at the hospital said that Harvey spent a restful night and is well on his way toward recovery.

Harvey is employed as a watchman at the Monessen plant of the American Chain and Cable Co.

SHEARED UTILITY POLE — This pole was in the path of the runaway car occupied by five teenagers last night. Utilityman William Holding, of West Penn Power Co., looks at the damage.

Youths Unhurt as Car Shears Pole, Hits Auto

A 14-year old "motorist" and four companions narrowly escaped injury or death about 8:30 last night when the car in which they were riding went out of control, sheared off a utility pole, swerved across the road and slammed into a parked car in an empty lot on Sixth St. near Reed Ave. by the High School.

Fortunate, too, was that there were no pedestrians or motorists in the path of the run-away car.

Melvin Boord, 14, of 411 Oneida St., was the driver of the new model car. His passengers were Ellen Barton 15, of Rosecrest Ave.; Joyce Bacinski, 14, of 108 Reed Ave.; Eugene Ninchak, 15 of 514 First St. and Carl Jurkiewicz, 14, of 231 Knox Ave.

The accident occurred shortly after Boord made a left turn off Reed Ave. onto Sixth St. The sheared pole was on the right side of the street. The car then swerved and ran into the empty lot between the Bell Telephone Co. office and the home of John Rocco, of 111 Sixth St.

Teen-age Dances Will Continue

McKEESPORT, Pa. (UP) — Teen-age dances will continue during week ends in the youth center at nearby White Oak, scene of a Sunday night near-riot by 500 teenagers.

White Oak Burgess Thomas Field and operators of the D. J. Club, sponsor of the dances, met Tuesday night and issued a statement which said in part:

"The club reasserted its confidence in the ability of young people to attend public events in large crowds without disturbing the peace and good order of the community.

"The D. J. Club will continue to provide a place where young people may dance to fine music and be entertained by famous entertainers and celebrities in a clean atmosphere."

Brownsville Man Beaten, Robbed By Two Thugs

A Brownsville man was severely beaten and robbed by two thugs last night while walking near his home.

Joseph Polansky, 55, of Pike Mine Patch, the victim, was treated in Brownsville General Hospital for multiple lacerations of the face and head.

Police said Polansky was attacked by robbers along railroad tracks near his home. He reportedly was using a shortcut en route from a Brownsville lodge meeting.

The victim told police he was relieved of his wallet, containing an unknown sum of money.

Polansky said his assailants were strangers. He described them as "big". Police are continuing investigation.

Burglars Take $15 in Cash from Morgan Grill

Burglars broke into the Twelfth Street Grill at 1200 Morgan Ave. yesterday and took $15 in cash, Monessen police disclosed today.

The theft was reported yesterday by the owner, Art Feldman. He said the burglars took place sometime between 2 and 8 a. m.

The thieves gained entrance by cutting a wire screen and breaking a window pane on the east side of the building. They pried open a cash drawer, which contained $31.30. However, only $15.00 was taken.

Feldman said he was unable to determine as yet if any merchandise was stolen.

Members of Parking Authority 'Gripe' Over Financial Picture

Last night was "gripe night" at the Monessen Parking Authority meeting.

And one of the Authority members, Emil Spadafore, led the "gripping."

Spadafore openly criticized the Authority, and included himself, for what he termed "not showing enough initiative" to do something constructive about putting the two downtown parking plazas on a paying basis.

He also took a swipe at local merchants who are not participating in the Park 'n Shop program.

Under the Park 'n Shop program, a customer who shops at any of the Park 'n Shop stores is entitled to a token worth five cents or one-half hour free parking for each purchase of $2 or more.

"We are working too hard at providing bargain parking and not hard enough at publicizing the benefits to be derived from the plazas," Spadafore said.

He was referring to a program which was instituted at last month's Authority meeting, at which Spadafore was absent, whereby the Authority is renting the 11 stalls in the middle levels of the plaza, located on Donner and Schoonmaker avenues between Fourth and Fifth streets, on a 24-hour basis for a monthly fee of $10 each.

"I don't think that is the answer to our problem," Spadafore said.

The plazas were built to provide more parking places in the shopping area, he said, and we should be making that known to the public.

"And another thing," he said, "we should be getting some more accurate picture of what the revenue has been in the two plazas."

Spadafore was joined in this criticism by another Authority member, Andrew Krutsky, who proposed that the City Treasurer give a detailed statement of revenue since the plazas' inception and also a record from Mellon National Bank of income from the sale of tokens.

Under present arrangements, the meters in the two parking plazas are being emptied weekly by members of the Monessen police force. These receipts are taken to the Mellon Bank where they are counted.

The monies derived from these meters are turned over to the City Treasurer's office and the tokens are "sold back" to the Monessen Chamber of Commerce. Token proceeds also go to the Treasurer's office.

Since the plazas' opening last

Legalized Horse Race Betting Bill On Senate Floor

HARRISBURG (UP) — Legalized horse race betting, one of Pennsylvania's most controversial issues—has started another run through the Legislature, with opponents already mustering their forces to lengthen the odds against its passage.

The Senate Law and Order Committee late yesterday approved legislation to authorize a statewide referendum in November on the question of pari-mutuel betting.

But when the issue reached the Senate floor, Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington) tossed up a temporary roadblock.

Lane and Sen. G. Robert Watkins (R-Delaware), committee chairman, engaged in a bitter argument when Lane objected to the usual procedure of giving the bill automatic first reading and asked that it be printed on the first reading calendar. The move added a full day to the minimum time in which the measure could clear the Senate.

When Watkins obejcted to Lane's request for a change from the usual Senate procedures, Lane said he "thought" Watkins was trying to "railroad" the bill through the Senate. His statement precipitated a strong verbal battle in which Watkins said he took Lane's comments to be a personal insult. He drew from Lane an acknowledgement that he had never in any way tried to force any of his bills through the chamber.

Remarks Expunged

"But I don't want you to either," Lane said.

Lane finally agreed to have his remarks expunged from the Senate record but not until the Senate Republican leadership moved to take this course through a formal vote.

Watkins is an avowed supporter of pari-mutuel horse racing in Pennsylvania. Although he heads the committee to which the bill was referred, he did not vote when the committee members balloted to send the bill to the Senate floor.

During the 1955 session a similar proposal reached the Senate floor and for a time appeared fairly certain of passage. But a flock of mail changed the minds of some of the lawmakers who previously said they would favor the measure if it reached a final passage ballot. The bill was returned to a committee and never reemerged.

The proposal which the committee favored by an 8-3 vote merely authorized the referendum and would not make horse racing legal in itself. But it would be a signal, one way or the other, for the next Legislature to act on the question.

Yesterday's Senate session, interrupted by a near two-hour recess, saw the Senate Finance Committee send to the floor an amended version of the House-approved revisions aimed at tightening collection and enforcement features of the state sales tax.

Division and went to Johnson Steel at Worcester in 1947 as assistant works manager. He was placed in charge of the Johnson plant a year later.

Sance is a Pittsburgh Steel veteran, having started to work in the Monessen plant in 1914. He is a native of Plymouth, Mass.

Duvall Rise Rapid

His early experience was in tube mill operations, first in Monessen and later at Allenport. He rose to become manager of the Allenport plant, and in 1951 was made vice president-operations.

Duvall, a Monessen native, has risen rapidly in the executive ranks of the company. He joined the company in 1941 as a time study engineer. He later became chief industrial engineer, assistant works manager here and works manager. He was elected vice-president-industrial relations in 1955.

Barber came with Pittsburgh Steel as executive vice president when the company acquired the Thomas Steel Co., of Warren, O., in 1951. Barber had been president of Thomas, which is now a subsidiary of Pittsburgh. He was made vice chairman, a new position, last year.

Maxwell said Barber will be retained as a consultant to assist in supervising the company's current $21 million expansion program.

Former Marines Who Reenlist Given Choices

Former Marines who reenlist in the United States Marine Corps now have their choice of duty station area assignment, according to local Marine Corps recruiter C. M. Jepsen, of Charleroi.

Personnel reenlisting in the Marine Corps at the rate of sergeant or below can now request assignment to duty stations at either the East Coast or West Coast of the United States or their choice of overseas Fleet Marine Force Units provided they reenlist in the Leatherneck Corps for four or six years.

Previously reenlistees in the tri-state area were sent to either Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, or Quantico, Virginia, only, according to the Marine recruiters.

The new policy is in line with the Marine aim to procure personnel with previous Marine Corps training. The Charleroi station is located in the post office.

Five Day Forecast

Western Pennsylvania Temperature will average three to five degrees below normal. Warmer Thursday. Colder Friday and Saturday. Warmer Sunday and colder again Monday night. Rain Thursday night and Friday. Rain south and rain or snow north portion Monday. Total precipitation one-third to one-half inch.

November, the Authority has never received a formal record of earnings.

"How are we to have a detailed picture of the operation of the plazas if we don't know how much money we are realizing?", Spadafore asked.

"Frankly," he said, "when I asked how the plazas are doing, I can't answer, because I don't know myself."

Chairman Harold Cramer pointed out that, although all these things are true, he had been informed by the Authority's traffic engineer, Don McNeil, that the Authority should not expect the plazas to be put on a paying basis for possibly two years.

"It takes time for these things to catch on," Cramer said McNeil had advised him.

Cramer also advised that 12 persons so far had agreed to terms provided in the "bargain" parking program and that the plan is already in operation.

The Authority also authorized the payment of several bills and the hiring of M. A. Milinovich, who acts as City accountant, to likewise serve the Authority.

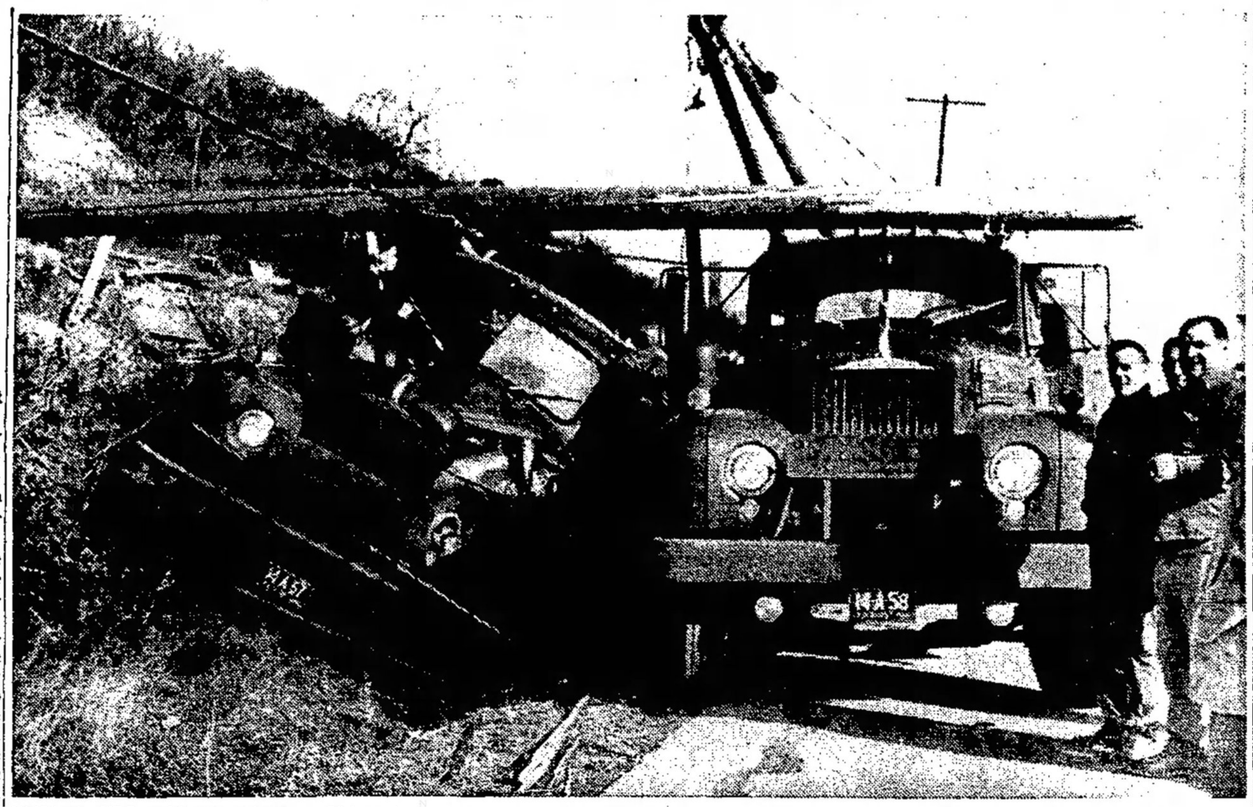
Bill to Fix Pay Of Some Firemen

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Legislature has received a bill to fix minimum salaries of firemen in Pennsylvania's 47 third class cities at $4,500 annually.

The Senate legislation would adjust salaries after five years service. It was co-sponsored by Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin) and four Democrats.

They Did 'Time'

OLATHE, Kan. (UP) — City Commissioner Herman Higgins pondered a $11.59 bill presented by two plumbers Wednesday for a few minutes repairs in the county jail plus "time." The plumbers charged the city for overtime after they were inadvertently locked in a cell for two hours.



SHEARS OFF UTILITY POLE — This tractor-trailer truck, loaded with steel, sheared off a utility pole yesterday afternoon along Route 906 between Belle Vernon and Monessen, interrupting both phone and electric service in the area. In the picture above, the steel load is being transferred to another tractor-trailer rig. The big vehicle, operated by Ralph Fonner, of Monessen, swerved off the highway to avoid hitting a line of autos held up by traffic.

Tractor-Trailer Shears Off Pole Near Monessen

A tractor-trailer truck, loaded with steel, sheared off a utility pole on Route 906 about one mile south of Monessen yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, interrupting both electric and phone service in the area.

State Police identified the driver as Ralph L. Fonner, 25, of 1112 McMahon Ave. Monessen.

Police said Fonner, travelling toward Monessen from Belle Vernon, came over a rise in the road and saw that traffic was halted. He could not get his truck stopped in time, so he ran off the road rather than crash into the autos.

Police said Fonner apparently escaped injury.

The mishap knocked down "hot" lines of the West Penn Power Co. Linemen were forced to turn off power for a short time while making repairs.

Telephone service to a pair of customers in the area was also interrupted briefly.

Traffic along the highway — exceptionally heavy at the time of the mishap — was rerouted through Charleroi, police said.

Calendar for 1957-58 School Term Released

Monessen public school students will probably like every month but March during the 1957-58 school term. There are no "free days" listed for that month, according to the school calendar released today.

However, all is not lost for the students since there are several "long" weekends and a two-weeks Christmas vacation period included on the calendar.

Tuesday, Sept. 3, will mark the opening of the school year. The last day of school will be Friday, June 6.

There will be 23 "no school" days, including the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter holiday periods.

Woman Held In Local Jail

Sharlotte Fleming, 32, of 1041 Schoonmaker Ave., was being held in Monessen jail today in default of $100 bond on a charge of operating a disorderly house.

She was arrested this morning on a complaint filed by Vincent Zwicki, of 1033 Schoonmaker Ave.

Zwicki told police his wallet, containing $43, was taken while visiting the Fleming house.

According to police, Fleming denied the theft. However the wallet was found in the Fleming house after a police search.

ter Hunter, of 488 Reed Ave., was against the side of the Rocco home. The parked car prevented the run-away car from crashing into the stone foundation of the home.

The car also tore up shubbery and a picket fence belonging to the telephone company.

The Boord youth, because of his age, was unauthorized to drive the car belonging to his father, Walter Boord.

The father told police the car was taken without his knowledge. He also said he "didn't know his son could drive".

'Drag-race Lane'

The accident took place on what is known as "drag-race lane" and "hot-rod alley". Residents near the vicinity of the high school last night complained that they have been kept awake nights because of the screeching tires and machine gun-like exploding mufflers of the fast-speeding juvenile hot-rodders.

Neighbors said the hot-rodders conduct frequent drag races starting at the top of Summit Ave. and Sixth St. The racers zoom down Sixth St. to the McKee Ave. intersection. They they turn around and travel the opposite route.

Police have made several attempts to nab the violators but have been unsuccessful. Police said the racers seem to know when "we're not in the vicinity".

Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka said today that more frequent patrols will be made in that vicinity and other vicinities where racers are reported operating.

"They are endangering lives," Kuvinka said, and "we'll throw the book at them when we catch them."

Arabs to Protest U. S. Tanker in Aqaba Gulf

By UNITED PRESS

Israel's Arab neighbors were reported preparing a formal protest today to the United States against its "violation" of Arab territorial waters by sending an American tanker to the Israel port of Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba.

The development, reported in Cairo by Egypt's semi-official Middle East news agency, appeared to write finis to American diplomatic efforts to reach a settlement with Egypt on future operation of the Suez Canal.

All indications were the Suez dispute which touched off last fall's shooting war in the Middle East would bounce back to the U. N. Security Council.

Reports at U. N. headquarters in New York said France was bringing pressure on the United States and its other western allies to call a Security Council meeting, perhaps Friday.

A dispatch from Jerusalem said Israel would ask France to intervene in the Security Council against Egyptian threats to sink any Israeli ship trying to use the Suez Canal. Paris dispatches dismissed the threats as "blustering and merely a sign of fright and impotence rather than resolve."

Although the Suez Canal was open — on Egyptian terms — tension was on the increase again. An outburst of charges and countercharges by Israel and the Arab nations were almost back at the intensity of the days before Israel's Sinai Desert campaign.

Egypt, for the second day in a row, warned Israel against any "provocative aggressions." Israel countered with the assertion the Egyptian statement was made to take the emphasis over Israel's complaints of renewed Arab Fedayeen commando raids.

Both Israel and Syria reported minor border incidents in northern Israel. Israel reported a series of small raids by Jordanians who slipped into Israel at night and made off with a herd of sheep in one instance and battled an Israeli patrol in another.

SENIOR WORK DAY HELD HERE — Some 200 Monessen High School seniors were excused from classes yesterday to work in local stores as part of Senior Work Day. They performed chores from sweeping floors to dressing mannequins. Their earnings will be donated to the special foreign exchange student program sponsored annually in Monessen. Two girl seniors, Carolyn Helzlsouer, left, and Ceil Zoretich, are shown with Norman Henderson, of Fisher Brothers.

Prices of Food Are Studied

WASHINGTON (UP)— Congressional investigators have drafted a report showing that retail food prices increased 16 per cent in the last decade while prices paid farmers for the same items fell 14 per cent.

The report — not yet made public — was prepared by the newly-created consumer study subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee.

Subcommittee Chairman Victor L. Anfuso (D-N. Y.) said last night it will be the basis for a new round of investigations of food industry prices. Anfuso, who represents a Brooklyn district without a single farm, is the only big-city member of the congressional farm bloc.

The group's first report, it was learned, will say that the annual food costs of the average city family rose from $1,000 in 1947 to $1,500 in 1956.

Of the $500 increase, farmers received $45 or about 9 per cent, the report adds. Food processors, handlers, retailers and other marketing agencies got $400, or about 80 per cent. The remaining $55 went for imported foods and fish.

The increase in marketing charges was attributed to two factors — new services for consumers in the form of more prepared and frozen foods and higher marketing costs.

"These investigations will be the next phase of the subcommittee's activities," the report said.

State Legislators Open Probe of Darcy Case

HARRISBURG (UP) — Three days before Christmas, 1947, about 11.30 p. m., three young men armed with pistols walked into the Feasterville Inn near Doylestown, robbed the bartender and shot two patrons and killed a bystander as they fled the scene.

The three were captured by Philadelphia police the next day. They were convicted of murder in Bucks County Court and, in June, 1498, were sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Today, six state legislators opened an investigation to determine why the once - condemned men are still alive.

Last Sept. 29, two days before the time set for their execution, David Darcy, Harold Foster and Harry Zeitz, were granted commutation of sentences to life imprisonment by Gov. George M. Leader.

A legislative committee appointed by the General Assembly to investigate the state Pardons Board, upon whose recommendation the governor acted, seeks to determine if any "political considerations" influenced that recommendation.

The joint legislative resolution setting up the investigation said "the opinion prevails in many quarters that political considerations influenced the actions of the Board of Pardons in this and in other recent cases."

The board's recommendation to the governor said, in part:

"Twenty - three judges of the highest courts of this country have examined the record of the Darcy trial. Eight of these judges found that the petitioner had raised substantial and meritorious questions of deprivation of constitutional rights. Since so substantial a doubt as to the fairness of the trial exists...especially when the life of a human being is at issue, the board cannot with clear conscience fail to recommend the exercise of executive clemency."

The Pardon Board members who made the recommendation were: Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman; former Commonwealth Secretary Henry E. Harner, Internal Affairs Secretary Genevieve Blatt, and former Attorney General Herbert B. Cohen, now a state Supreme Court justice.

Former U. S. Sen. James H. Duff intimated in campaign speeches last fall there were "sinister influences" behind the governor's action. Duff termed the commutations "a horrible perversion of justice."

Prominent in the charges of improper influence on the board is Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Philadelphia building contractor and chairman of the Democratic National Finance Committee.

McCloskey, who is also chairman of the Democratic State Finance Committee, at one time employed Darcy's aunt, Marion Ford, as his private secretary. Miss Ford was reported to have borne the major part of the cost of bringing Darcy's long list of appeals, estimated to total over $50,000.

In addition, McCloskey's personal attorney, J. Dress Pannell, Harrisburg, was co-counsel in Darcy's successful appeal to the Pardons Board.

Asks House To Probe Dismissal

HARRISBURG (UP—A fight to clear the name of a former Washington County highway maintenance superintendent was carried to the floor of the House Tuesday.

Rep. Michael R. Flynn (D-Washington) asked the House "in the interest of fair play" to investigate the dismissal of Joseph Abate, Slovan, last March 29.

The state Highways Department announced Abate was fired for "insubordination" which occurred at "various times during his service and involved infractions of regulations regarding maintenance methods."

Flynn charged Abate was made the "scapegoat" for a faulty bridge construction in the county which collapsed in 1956. He said Abate was told the department was "unhappy" over publicity in a Pittsburgh newspaper citing the incident and asked him to resign. When Abate refused, he was fired, Flynn said.

The bridge was identified as a $102,000 span on Route 40 between Washington and Claysville at Sunset Beach. It collapsed on March 14, 1956.

Flynn read extracts from letters which he said absolved Abate from any responsibility in the bridge. He said Abate was merely a supervisor and placed the blame on the district bridge engineer, D. J. Micksick.

Abate, who was present during the fiery speech, said Norbert G Bell, Uniontown, District 12 engineer, asked him to resign because of the newspaper publicity. Abate was fired on Bell's recommendation.

Niagara Falls Power Battle Opens Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—A new congressional battle over proposals for development of hydro-electric power at Niagara Falls opened today in a Senate publications subcommittee.

Before the subcommittee were two bills proposing conflicting plans for distribution of Niagara power among New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The Senate last year passed a bill similar to one proposed this year by Sen Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) and 16 co-sponsors in the Senate and by Rep. Charles A Buckley (D-N.Y.) in the House.

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) has introduced a rival bill. He said Clark's bill would violate the laws of New York state and result in "prolonged litigation."

The two bills differ principally in that the Clark proposal contains a so-called "federal preference clause" which would grant priority in distribution of power from the Niagara project to rural electric cooperatives and municipally owned utility systems. Ives bill provides that "a reasonable amount" of power shall be allocated to cooperatives and municipalities.

Ives charged in a statement prepared for the subcommittee that Clarks' measure would "discriminate against over 95 per cent of the residents of New York state by granting initial preferences to a comparatively few scattered municipally owned plants and rural electric cooperatives" located within the three states.

He said that within the projects market area, 29 million people live in New York state compared with 645,000 in Pennsylvania and 113,000 in Ohio.

The Niagara project is "of vital importance to the people of western New York," Ives declared, and "unless it is soon developed, important industry will move away."

Clark argued in a statement that historically such power sources "exist for the benefit of the people, and that monopoly thereof shall not be tolerated."

The federal preference clause, he insisted, "is the only effective means at the disposal of the people to bring benefits of competition into the electric power industry." He said this approach "will bring lower power rates throughout western New York, western Pennsylvania and northeastern Ohio."

Getting Set for A Civic Effort

ALTHOUGH it will be some months yet before the City Planning Commission is ready to reveal in its full dimensions the master plan for Monessen's future development which is now in preparation, it is not too early for the people of the community and their official leaders to be mustering the energy and the courage that will be needed to translate the plans into reality.

For over 10 years this newspaper has vigorously advocated long-range planning for Monessen, and no citizen could be more pleased than we are at the developments which are taking place. They represent a new lease on life for this community.

But we have not advocated planning for planning's sake. Our interest is not in pretty pictures, fancy maps and the rest of the apparatus of the professional planning engineers.

No, our interest is in a better city. And while we realize that to get a better city we have first to put on paper the ingredients of a better city, the plans themselves are worthless just as plans. They must be transformed into the streets and parks and buildings and other facilities that the plans call for.

It is for this task that we ought now to be preparing ourselves, at least mentally. We ought to be putting ourselves in somewhat the frame of mind of the famed Seabees of World War II: "The difficult we can do immediately; the impossible will take a little longer."

* * *

IT HAS BEEN proven that a city can make itself over, keeping what is good and replacing or renovating what is no longer desirable. Slum clearance, redevelopment, urban renewal, land use — these are all part of the terminolgy of this process. They refer to the tools and the aids which are available to cities which undertake to rehabilitate themselves.

But although these tools are efficient and the methods of civic rejuvenation have been well tested, it is still the people of the community who must furnish the energy and the will to make the tools and the methods effective.

Monessen can be — within reason of course — about what its people would like it to be. In the nature of its econmy, it probably cannot be a garden spot. But it can be convenient and modern, and we think it can also be made more attractive in many ways. And this is the general objective of the planning which is going on.

Yet our people must want to reach this objective; they must be willing to support those whose duty it is to achieve it; and they must be willing themselves to make the sacrifices and commitments which are called for from time to time.

The planners will surely be giving us many goals that look difficult, and some probably that will seem impossible. But we venture to predict that we can reach them all if we want to do so badly enough.

Reuther's 'Watchdogs'

WALTER Reuther, the impulsive president of the United Auto Workers union, lost no time in putting into action his idea, inspired by the Dave Beck episode, of having a non-union "watchdog" board to oversee the operations of the UAW. The UAW convention has authorized appointment of such a board, and Mr. Reuther was on the job with the names of several prominent citizens to serve on it, among them a clergyman from each of the three major faiths.

Mr. Reuther's intentions no doubt are high-minded. He is that kind of gentleman. But we cannot avoid the feeling that it is a confession of weakness that he thinks outside watchdogs are necessary to keep the management of a union's affairs free of corruption.

Unions should be thoroughly democratic organizations — of the members, by the members and for the members. And any truly democratic organization contains within itself the machinery and the will to prevent its chosen leaders from betraying the interests of the members.

What Mr. Reuther is saying, it seems to us, is that his union doesn't possess the machinery or the will or both to keep it clean. And so it needs the help of outsiders.

But it's our feeling that this is not the right medicine. To be sure, it might have helped in the Teamsters Union to have some outstanding citizens looking over Dave Beck's shoulder while he was using hundreds of thousands of dollars of union funds to make himself rich. But would it not have been far better had the control of the Teamsters Union been retained by the members themselves instead of being passed to self-perpetuating leaders?

Merry-Go-Round–

Joe Martin, Halleck Are Rivals

(Drew Pearson is taking a brief vacation. During his absence, his column is written by his junior partner, Jack Anderson.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The long personal feud between the two top House Republicans, GOP leader Joe Martin and Congressman Charlie Halleck, may be headed for a showdown. Both are quietly polling their friends to see who has the most support in the Republican ranks.

Joe and Charlie haven't gotten along since they ran the House together during the 80th Congress (1946-48). This personal friction has been fanned to a white heat now by the White House which sometimes ignores Martin and works through Halleck.

Joe is so sore at being bypassed that he has complained to cronies: "The way the White House is running things, I won't have a minority to lead after the next election."

Halleck has been whispering around the cloakrooms that Martin promised to step aside and let him have the GOP leadership last January. Charlie claims he was double-crossed while vacationing in Florida.

His game is to rally enough Republican congressmen behind him to control GOP policy in the House. If he could muster enough votes, he might even attempt to oust Martin as GOP leader (though this isn't likely until Congress reorganizes in 1959).

But Martin has no intention of turning the Republican reins over to Halleck. Old Joe has been buttonholing colleagues and asking them point-blank: "I want to know where you stand."

Most of the old veterans stand solidly behind Joe, though Charlie has made inroads among the younger members. This could develop into a serious rift in the GOP high command.

Nixon's Calendar

Headlines and Footnotes — Vice President Nixon is turning down engagements more than three weeks in advance. Those sending him invitations (with few exceptions) are told to try again three weeks before they want him. This has naturally stirred speculation that Nixon is keeping his calendar open in case President Eisenhower's health should take a turn for the worse . . . Charles Patrick Clark, the dictators' lobbyist, will soon lose another client. Already fired by Dominican Dictator Trujillo, Clark will next be dropped by Spain's dictator Franco . . .

Congressman James Van Zandt (R., Pa.) is urging the White House to appoint Congressman Sterling Cole (R., N. Y.) to the Atomic Energy Commission. Reason: Van Zandt wants to climb up the seniority ladder and Cole stands in his way on the congressional atomic watchdog committee. The dapper Pennsylvanian would like to get Cole promoted out of Congress . . . J. Clifford Folger's appointment as Ambassador to Belgium is an object lesson in how to get ahead in the foreign service. His chief qualification: He was the GOP's official money raiser . . . As a diplomat, Folger is a fine broker. He landed the Smithsonian Institution's brokerage business while he was Republican national finance chairman. Of course, his brokerage partner happened to be Robert W. Fleming, son of Smithsonian executive committee chairman Robert V. Fleming.

Cocktail Circuit

One reason for Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer's shift from the Far East to the Pentagon is to relieve Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Army chief, from attending so many cocktail parties.

Protocol demands Taylor's presence at receptions almost every evening. He is so tired of the cocktail circuit that he started looking around for someone to help out with the social chores.

It would be bad diplomatic manners for Taylor to send anyone less than his vice chief to represent him at Washington functions. The present vice chief is a fearless field commander, Gen. Williston Palmer, who won't flinch in the face of an enemy but runs like a rabbit from cocktail parties.

"Willie," as he's called around the Pentagon, is considered a social dud. He stays home studying Army strategy while Taylor wearily chases to receptions.

The Army chief finally decided he's had enough. He ordered "Willie" transferred to Europe and the more social Lemnitzer brought to the Pentagon as vice chief.

From Washington–

Supreme Court Begs off

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The United States Supreme Court is going to resist to the last ditch having any hand whatsoever, individually or collectively, in determining presidential disability.

Mr. Drummond

My information is that there is not a single Justice who does not believe that bringing the high bench — or any part of it — into such an executive - political matter would be bad for the Court, bad for the presidency and bad for the country.

You can take it for granted that the several proposals now before the House Judiciary Committee, which would place two or more members of the Court on a Presidential Disability Commission, such as proposed by the ranking Republican member of the committee, Rep. Kenneth Keating of N. Y., finds no response among any of the present justices.

These proposals meet with no support and no sympathy.

The justices want to have no part of them.

No Public Comment

The Court is taking no public position on a constitutional amendment which would involve it in any responsibility to determine presidential disability — and hopes it will not have to do so.

But its attitude can be discerned and can, I think, be put pretty precisely.

From every test of tradition and concept of the detachment of the Court, the justices would hope that Congress would discard any thought of injecting even one justice, let alone two or more, of the Court into the presidential disability picture.

It is probable that, if the House Judiciary Committee, which is now holding hearings on the subject, were to ask the Court for its views on using the Court to any degree on any aspect of disability procedure, the justices would shrink from even stating their position. Their view would almost certainly be that determining presidential disability is so outside the Court's function and its boundaries that the justices would not want to come as near to it as even revealing their opposition.

Direct Appeal Possible

They would hope that their determined aloofness would convey to Congress their true attitude. But if this isn't sufficient to cause Congress to discard measures giving the Court any such role, I would not be surprised to see the Court make a direct and open appeal to head it off.

If I am correctly informed, this is how strongly the justices feel on this matter. What brings them to this view is the conviction that to inject the Court in any way into the issue of presidential disability:

1 — Would grievously undercut the separation of powers between the Court and the other two branches of government and would weaken public confidence in the detachment of the Court.

2 — Would involve the judiciary in non-judicial matters; in a word, would enmesh it in politics in appearance if not in fact.

3 — Would, if the justices should ever have to find a President "disabled", make an "Acting President" in part dependent upon the Court for his position — which would further transgress the separation of powers.

There has been no attempt by the Court — which is now a full Court made up of Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Frankfurter, Douglas, Burton, Clark, Harlan, Brennan and Whittaker — to reach a formal concensus. I suspect there has been no need to do so. In weighing what they would see as the consequences of becoming a party to a presidential disability decision, there would instinctively be a meeting of minds.

Ike Favors Cabinet

Mr. Eisenhower has himself turned away from Supreme Court participation in determining presidential disability in the event a President is unwilling or unable to do so. His plan is to have the decision made by a majority of the 10-member cabinet.

Although this procedure has provoked congressional resistance, it is possible that the unwillingness of the Supreme Court justices to become involved will increase support for the President's plan as the only practicable alternative.

At this stage it looks like the President's plan — or nothing.

The Lighter Side–

New Idea in Movies

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Henry Fonda, a long, lean product of Omaha, Neb., who has appeared in more than 60 movies and around 150 stage plays, has ventured into producing and come up with something that is almost spectacularly unusual.

The new motion picture which he is co-producing — and in which he has a starring role — lasts 96 minutes. All but three of those minutes have their action inside one bare room, 16 feet wide and 24 feet long.

These are 93 consecutive minutes inside the room, with no flashbacks or other interruptions. The props are a table, 12 chairs, a water cooler, coatrack, electric fan, switchblade knife, and a diagram of a tenement flat. The latter two are exhibits in a murder trial.

Actors 'Live' Parts

The 12 actors who crowd into the room are the jury arguing a man's fate. The set is molded after the jury rooms of the big Criminal Courts Building in Manhattan.

The actors are veterans of the New York stage and television. They play "12 Angry Men," which is the title of the film and the burden of the action. They get really riled at each other—a condition which often develops in real-life juries. Fonda plays juror No. 8.

Because of the economy of sets and shooting time, Fonda says, his first step into the producing field didn't give him much of a workout in a producer's role, although: "It's nice to be able to pick a cast, and pick your director."

Finished On Schedule

They began casting in February last year, went into production in June, built one set, rented one small sound stage, rehearsed two weeks, and spent only 21 days shooting film — "That was our schedule and we came in on schedule."

The rehearsal for two weeks was done "as you would a play, and at the end of the second week we could have opened in a Broadway theater," Fonda says. "The second week was all run-through rehearsals. Ordinarily, in pictures you never do that: you rehearse each scene just before you shoot it which has to be out of continuity because mechanically you are forced to do it that way. Our rehearsals gave the actors a chance for intimate concentration with the director on characterization."

The man who wrote the script about the angry jury at work, Reginald Rose, is co-producer with Fonda. The picture opens this week, and Rose is pretty busy. He's doing jury duty—in State Supreme Court.

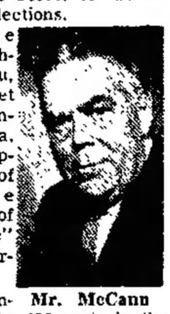
Reds Gain Control of State Regime in India

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Communism has established a new foothold in eastern Asia.

A Red government has been established in the state of Kerala, in India, as the result of the recent national elections.



Mr. McCann

Thus Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, friend of Soviet Russia and Communist China, will have the opportunity of practicing the Red policy of "co-existence" on his own territory.

The Communists won 60 of the 126 seats in the Kerala State Parliament in the elections. They are assured the support of five independents and thus have a majority. Nehru's Congress Party was able to win only 43 seats.

It must have been a painful blow to Nehru. He gets along fine with the Russian, Chinese and other foreign Communists. But he never has had any fondness for his own Communists.

To make things worse, the new chief minister of the Kerala government—a post corresponding to prime minister—is held by Elankulam Namboodiripad, a one-time leader of the Congress Party.

First Red Foothold

The victory of the Kerala Reds gives Communism its first official foothold in a new part of Asia—in any part of Asia, in fact, outside of the Soviet Union, China, Northern Viet Nam and North Korea.

It is ironic that it had to happen to Nehru. While the menace of Communism is serious in some Asiatic countries, the Indian Communists never have amounted to much.

Nehru, a benevolent dictator, is firmly in charge of India as a whole. His Congress Party won 365 of the 488 seats in the ruling lower house of the Indian Parliament in the elections. The Communists won only 27.

But Kerala's 7,500,000 voters refused to go along with Nehru. Their vote for the Communists was largely a protest against the extreme poverty of that part of India.

Kerala is one of the 16 new states formed by Nehru out of the 29 states that once made up India. It is 15,035 square miles in area and has a population of 13,550,631. It lies at the extreme southern tip of the Indian peninsula.

Namboodiripad Newsman

Chief Minister Namboodiripad is 48. A member of a high-caste patrician family, as is Nehru, he is a well-known newspaper man. He is wealthy, and has been a generous contributor to Communist funds.

Namboodiripad was converted to Communism about 10 years ago. He previously had been president of Nehru's Congress Party in Kerala.

As soon as he took office last Friday, Namboodiripad commuted all death sentences in Kerala and said he would free all political prisoners. He announced that he proposed a drastic land reform program. This will include, if he can get away with it, the nationalization of foreign-owned plantations.

It can not be said that the establishment of Communist rule in Kerala constitutes any serious threat at the moment. But Communism is always a threat wherever it gets even a little power.

In India, the danger in the long range view is that Communism will spread to other areas of the southernmost part of the peninsula. That whole part of the country is impoverished and rich ground for Red penetration.

Does U. S. Government Have Excess Payroll?

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP)—In 1939, the year in which the Roosevelt New Deal spending hit its peacetime peak, the government had 936,000 civilian employes. It paid them about 142 million dollars a month.

Under the Truman administration, federal civilian employment ranged from a low of 1,961,000 in June, 1950, to a high of 2,601,000 during the Korean War.

Today the government has 2,400,000 civilian employes. The payroll cost is nudging one billion dollars a month. That is more than the whole federal budget in 1939.

For these facts, history is partly to blame. Hot wars and cold wars, tremendous economic growth, a steady increase in population, and the public's demand for services all have contributed to expansion of government operations. Inflation has forced up the wages of federal workers, as of all other workers.

When all of these factors are taken into account, however, there remain people who are convinced that the government has a lot more employes than it really needs.

Two Million Necessary

Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.), is chairman of a House Civil Service subcommittee which has conducted a three year investigation of manpower utilization in federal agencies. He says the "essential services of government" could be handled by two million civilian employes.

President Eisenhower told his news conference April 3 that while he doesn't agree with the two million figure he is convinced that "we can still cut (the federal work force) a great deal without suffering."

But Eisenhower said it is much easier to say that the federal payroll should be reduced than it is to find places to pare it.

Almost 50 per cent of the government's civilian employes work for the huge Department of Defense (which also has 2,787,000 members of the armed forces at a payroll cost of 10 billion dollars a year.)

Another 30 per cent work for the Post Office Department and the Veterans Administration.

The remaining 20 per cent are scattered through 77 departments and agencies, ranging in size from the District of Columbia Auditorium Commission, which has one employe, to the Agriculture Department, which has 82,167.

The administration contends that all of these agencies, and particularly the big three in which 80 per cent of the employes are concentrated, are performing functions which cannot be eliminated or drastically curtailed. It has therefore insisted on a pruning-knife rather than a meat-axe approach to payroll reduction.

Reduces Force Temporarily

Through an agency-by-agency search for "non-essential" jobs the Eisenhower administration achieved a total reduction of nearly 300,000 in the federal staff between the end of the Korean War and January, 1956. Since then, however, employment has crept upward by 40,000 to its present level. The budget which Mr. Eisenhower has submitted for the 1958 fiscal year would add about 31,000 more jobs.

In an effort to reverse the trend, the President recently issued orders that no federal agency may hire replacements for workers who quit or retire until they conduct a "review" to determine if the vacant job could be abolished.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson also ordered the headquarters of the armed forces to trim their civilian staffs by one per cent a month for 12 months, a move that would eliminate about 5,000 federal jobs.

These administration actions have not satisfied congressional economizers who feel that more drastic measures are necessary to cope with the built-in tendency of federal bureaus to grow ever larger.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Expenditures, is advocating a slash of five billion dollars in the federal budget to force all agencies to retrench.

Mrs. J. McGovern Heads Junior Club

Mrs. John R. McGovern was elected president of the Junior Women's Club of Monessen at a meeting held last night at Stern's Decorating Shop. Other officers chosen were Mrs. Robert Gilotty, first vice president; Mrs. Lee Jones, second vice president; Mrs. William Gilman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James Farquhar, treasurer and Mrs. Stephen Druash, assistant treasurer.

The election of officers highlighted a business session, which followed a program on interior decorating. Mrs. Betty Smith, Stern's interior decorator, was the speaker. She showed samples of drapery material, furniture covering and carpeting and demonstrated color harmony in the home. The club members joined in a question period after the talk and they were also served dessert refreshments by Stern's.

Business Meet

Mrs. Joseph M. Dudas, Jr., president, was in charge of the business session and Mrs. Herman Mihalich led in the club collect. Mrs. William Hughes reported on the last business session and Mrs. Dudas reviewed the action of the executive board at a recent meeting held.

The club members approved the support voted to two legislative matters by the executive board.

An invitation was received from the Monongahela Valley Catholic Women's College Club to attend a Guest Night on May 6 at St. Thomas Aquinas R.C. Church of California. Mrs. Dudas and Mrs. McGovern will represent the club at this session. An invitation was also extended to attend the meeting of the North Charleroi Women's Club tomorrow evening.

A letter was read from the Chamber of Commerce asking that the club be represented at a meeting to discuss signs for the entrance of the community.

The resignations of Joni Komar and Lenore DiVitto were accepted as club members.

Mrs. Herman Mihalich gave a complete report on the recent "Men's Night" meeting held at the Slovak Home.

Fish Dinner

Mrs. Robert Farr announced that all plans were completed for the major fund raising activity being promoted by the club at the present time. It will be a fish and chip dinner on Friday at the Slovak Home. Serving will be from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 5 to 7 p. m. with Mrs. Farr in charge at noon and Mrs. Allan Conaway in charge at the dinner hour. Tickets are available from the members and may also be purchased at the door.

The dinner project will earn money for two projects, half of the proceeds will be given to the mentally retarded children's fund and the other half to Camp Easter Seal.

Eight new members were accepted into the group.

Janice Calderone announced that a meeting will be held at her home, next Monday evening, of the committee in charge of the Miss Mon Valley contest, which the club plans to sponsor in June. Preliminary plans will be started for this event.

A meeting of the scholarship committee and officers will be held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Schrag to decide the name of the person, who will receive the senatorial scholarship obtained by the club to the University of Pittsburgh.

A letter of thanks was read from the Monessen Library Association for the contribution of $1,000 made by the club to the library for use in the youth department.

Mrs. Robert Schrag was general chairman of the meeting which was arranged by the education and welfare committee. Mrs. Albert Kundrat, Dolores Curcio and Mrs. William Hughes.

Scout Troop 41 Plans Special Easter Event

Girl Scout Troop 41 opened the regular meeting held on Monday evening in the Civic Center with the usual glaf ceremony. The girls taking part were Ginger Kerekes, Gaetanne Tetkoski, Mary Jo Campus, color guard, and Annette Palmieri, spokesman. Patricia Berthinee was a guest of Mary Ann Havrilak.

The girls and their leader, Mrs. Laura Bevan, discussed plans for the next troop meeting which is to be held as an "Easter egg dye" at the home of Arlene Popp.

Games were played and Girl Scouts songs sung to concluded the session. Indian Taps and a "Good Night Scout" were featured.

Eagles Ladies Auxiliary to Hold Election

The election of officers will take place at the Thursday evening meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Eagles in the Aerie Home on Schoonmaker avenue.

Mrs. Wilma Dolinsky will be in charge of the business session as president and the social hour will be arranged by a committee composed of Betty Gedeon, chairman, assisted by Marie Foster, Frances Faracci, Ethel Ferrari, Betty Fillingham, Georgette Fizer, Julia Fritz, Martha Garafola, Dora Gais, Elizabeth Gaspich, Helen Gilmore and Ann Gillingham.

The Original Chatterbox Club Is Entertained

Mrs. Ann Kantsi, of Sixth St., was hostess to members of the Original Chatterbox Club at her home last night.

Cards were played and those winning high score prizes were Mrs. Dorothy Senitta, Mrs. Catherine Hotchkiss and Mrs. Norma DeMatteo. The guest award was won by Mrs. Carole Milika.

Mrs. Evelyn Pappas, of Virginia, daughter of Mrs. Kantsi, was a guest.

Luncheon was served by the hostess and in two weeks the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Elaine Seftas, of Reed Ave.

Red Rose Club Entertained Here

A meeting of the Red Rose Club was held on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. James Pennington, of Morgan avenue, and the president, Mrs. Berry Perman presided.

Mrs. Pennington as chaplain was in charge of the opening and a business session followed. Plans were made to observe the birthday anniversary of Miss Emma Parker. Plans were also made for the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Herbert Flights, of Morgan avenue, April 20.

Inkle Members Are Entertained

Mrs. Joan Popp, of Belle Vernon, was hostess to the Inkle Club at her home last night and five hundred was the diversion.

There were two tables in play and the first prize was won by Mrs. Dorothy Beres, second; Lois Vitale and traveling prize, Mrs. Hester Crosser. The special award was won by the hostess.

Guests for the evening were Janet Prosba and Shirley Demko.

Luncheon was served and Marge Pilarcik, of Elizabeth, was named as next hostess.

Margaret Ann Aspy Wed To Oklahoma Service Man

Announcement is being received in this district of the marriage of Margaret Ann Aspy, of Dallas, Texas, to Joe Herring Peeler. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Aspy, of Okmulgee, Okla., former residents of Belle Vernon and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Peeler, also of Okmulgee.

Nuptial vows were exchanged by the couple on Sunday afternoon, March 24, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the First Methodist Church of Okmulgee. The Rev. B. Frank Delvin officiated.

Preceding the rites there was organ music played by Austin Huffine, who chose as his selections nuptial favorites of the bride and bridegroom.

Given by Father

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a street length gown of white lace. Her veil of illusion was held in place by a rhinestone tiara and her bouquet was a shower arrangement of white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Joseph Williams, of Kansas City, was matron of honor and for her attire chose a gown of brown shantung with brown accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

George Collins, of Stillwater, Okla., was best man and serving as ushers were Leon Parsons and Wallace Denny.

Ring bearers were Carol Ann Parsons, niece of the bridegroom and Bennie Aspy, brother of the bride.

Mothers Attend

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Aspy, who will be remembered here as Miss Alda Blackburn, wore an embossed cotton dress of two tone tan with beige accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The mother of the bridegroom selected a beige shantung with blue accessories and wore a blue tinted carnation corsage.

After the ceremony there was a reception held in the church parlors for relatives and friends. Later the couple left for a brief wedding trip. For traveling the bride selected a red wool jersey sheath dress with a matching cape, black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Peeler will make their home in California where the bridegroom is stationed at Camp Pendleton with the U. S. Marine Corps.

ONE BUTTON CAPE — in gray, red and white plaided imported wool comes from a brand new spring collection. Raglan shoulder seams accent the slim lines.

LOCALS

All Girl Scouts of Troop 23, who are planning to go on the Pittsburgh tour must have permission slips and money to the assistant leader, Bunny Tesack by Friday, April 12. No reservations will be accepted later.

Mrs. Michael Murin and daughter, Carol Ann, were in New York City for a few days. While there Carol Ann auditioned for Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour. She has appeared on many district programs as a pantomimic.

The N.I.P.A. Ladies Lodge will meet this evening in the lodge room. The meeting should have been held next week, but was advanced because of Holy Week.

Robert L. Stockus, of Orange, Conn., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stockus, of McMahon avenue, over night. He was on a business trip to Pittsburgh.

The Ladies of the Italian Mutual Aid Society will have the regular session on Thursday evening and it will be followed by a special business discussion.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul Lutheran Church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in the church social rooms.

Mrs. James Bell, of Monessen, who was a patient in the Monongahela Memorial Hospital, has returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cousins, of 224 Delaware St., are celebrating their 49th wedding anniversary today.

William Mosely, of Monessen, is undergoing medical treatment in the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

The choir of St. Mary Church will have rehearsal this evening after the Lenten service in the church.

Mr., Mrs. James Stevenson Will Reside in Lynnwood Following Virginia Trip

Mr. and Mrs. James Stevenson are on their wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., and upon their return they will be at home in their apartment at 904 Edwards Ave., Lynnwood.

Before her marriage the new Mrs. Stevenson was Mary Belle Angel, home economist for the West Penn Power Co. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Angel, of Sewickley. Mr. Stevenson, who is employed at the Page Division of the American Chain and Cable Co. in Monessen, is the son of Mrs. Alex D. Stevenson, of Charleroi.

Their marriage took place in the Chapel of the Resurrection of the First Presbyterian Church of Sewickley. Officiating at the nuptials was the Rev. Dr. Lockhart Amerman. Tall lighted tapers decorated the church altar for the Saturday, April 6, ceremony, which was solemnized by candlelight.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white silk bombazine styled with a basque bodice. Re-embroidered Alencon lace formed the sabrina neckline and accented the short sleeves. Her fingertip veil was caught to a contour crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds, white carnations and daisies with satin shower streamers.

Mrs. Alistar M. Soutar, of Columbus, Ohio, was her sister's only attendant. She wore a nile green ballerina length gown of taffeta styled with a sweetheart neckline and fitted bodice. The cummerbund of seafoam green formed a bustle back with wide streamers flowing to the hemline. In her hair she wore a band of ivy leaves and she carried a bouquet of violets in a colonial arrangement.

Alex Stevenson, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Serving as ushers were Ronald Smith, of Charleroi and Chester Angel, of Canton, Ohio, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Angel chose a navy blue dress with pink accessories and wore a corsage of pink camelias. The mother of the bridegroom wore navy blue shantung with white accessories and a white camelia corsage.

Reception Held

The reception immediately following the ceremony was held at the church house. Refreshments were served from a table with a centerpiece of daffodils, iris and daisies. The wedding cake was topped with a miniature of the bride's bouquet in fresh flowers.

For traveling the bride selected a suit of black and white tweed with patent leather accessories and a white hat. Her corsage was of white daisies.

Anna Henline Is Hostess To Club Members

The members of the Cardetts were entertained last evening at the home of Anna Mae Henline, of Lincoln Ave., Charleroi. Two tables of five hundred were in play with high score prize going to Helen Dutchko.

Others receiving prizes were Helen Revak, Alvina Mauro and Anne Mae Henline.

Luncheon was served and the next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Alvina Mauro on Shepler Hill.

Card-Ettes Are Entertained

With Mrs. Betty Protin as hostess members of the Card-Ettes were recently entertained at the Charleroi Elks Club. Two tables of five hundred were in play.

Winning the high score awards were Mrs. Millie Yannitto, of Monessen, Mrs. Alberta Miller, of Clairton and Mrs. Muffie Blevins, of Belle Vernon, who was present as a guest.

Luncheon was served following play and Mrs. Peggy Williams was named as next hostess.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Belavich, Park Manor, Monessen, a son, seven pounds, 14 ounces, April 8, at 6:02 a. m., at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Irwin, of Belle Vernon R. D. 3, a daughter, April 6, at 3:38 p. m., at the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Redstone Wants in Big Six

Redstone High wants to stay in the Big Six Football Conference and will fight to do so. That's the story from up Republic way . . . For some reason, Redstone was not represented at a series of meetings called by principals at Big Six schools to draw up a formal constitution. The Redstone absence was interpreted as a lack of interest. So the Hawks were written right out of the league . . . However Redstone officials have wasted no time with their drive to stay in the conference. Reportedly they've already mailed a letter to the principals' group, asking for "readmission." The Redstone biggies insist they were informed of only one meeting by the principals and that they were NOT snubbing the group.

* * *

According to our informant, the Redstone School Board is mighty peeved by the whole situation. Most of the directors want to know why the Black Hawks weren't represented at the meetings in question . . . Felton Brown, a Monessen High grad, finished second in the 50-yard dash of the AAU indoor meet in Pittsburgh over the weekend. Felton covered the distance in :05.6, just a wee bit behind Pitt's fine sprinter Jim Donahue . . . By the way, Charleroi's Ed Zuraw, still in high school, tied for third in the pole vault event.

Penn State has gone through its last 18 football campaigns without a losing record. The all-time State slate show 354 wins, 195 defeats, 34 ties . . . No less than 98 schools will take part in the WPIAL baseball program this season, when — and if — it ever gets started . . . Maury Guttman, the Charleroi High grad, continues to draw all sorts of rave notices for his quarterbacking feats in spring drills at the University of Miami.

California High athletic director Jim Underwood offers a novel suggestion designed to improve both scholastic football and baseball. Jim figures football should be played in March, April and May to take advantage of cool weather. He feels scholastic baseball would do better in the warmer months of September and October . . . In an effort to interest women in the sport, the Charleroi Archery Club plans to organize a Ladies Auxiliary. The ambitious valley organization already sponsors an excellent junior program . . . Joe Marconi, former West Virginia football star and standout rookie with the Los Angeles Rams last season, is spending a 14-day Army furlough at his home in Fredericktown.

Addis to Stay at N. Huntingdon

Ed Addis, who quit as North Huntingdon basketball coach shortly before the close of last season, has not only reconsidered his decision, but he's gone so far as to sign a three-year contract! Addis, who formerly coached at Brownsville, watched his first North Huntingdon team win only one game in 14 league starts. Midway through the season he fired the senior members for lack of spirit and cooperation. Despite those tough tactics and the won-lost failure, Addis was coaxed back by both school officials and the students. The feeling is that his coaching technique will pay off in the long run.

Today's Sports Parade —

Sugar Ray Buckles Down for Big Fight

By OSCAR FRALEY

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, admitting that "at 35 you're not getting any better," prepared Wednesday for the fight of his boxing life.

This is a new, grimly serious Robinson who will strive to regain the middleweight crown from rugged Gene Fullmer at Chicago May 1. This is no longer the laughing playboy once known as one of the greatest fighters, pound for pound, in ring history.

He realizes that this could be the end of the road for the man trying to grab for the fourth time a title won from Jake LaMotta, lost and regained against Randy Turpin, and taken again from Carl (Bobo) Olson before losing it to Fullmer.

Has Him Worried

Cowboy Gene, an awkward "crowder," is the kind of fighter old Sugar Ray at one time ate for breakfast Today he worries the one-time Harlem dynamiter You see it in Robinson's sober mein and in the relentless manner in which he trains

They wonder whether Robinson's legs are gone and certainly he is not the ring-master of old Yet, they say at the Ramshackle Inn on the shores of Greenwood Lake, he is punching harder than ever. Anybody can see the hurt pride driving him on; that, and a need of ready cash

Sugar Ray is in trouble with Uncle Sam in the same way as Joe Louis. Each owes an incredible amount of back taxes and it is doubtful whether they will ever get "out."

Yet more than that drives Sugar Ray as he prepares to climb into the ring against the Utah strong boy who, on youth and strength, rates a solid 3-1 favorite. It is Robinson's refusal to concede that he might be through

Determined To Win

"Physically I haven't lost a thing," Sugar Ray says defiantly. "Fullmer has an awkward style and that's how he beat me the last time. I've fought rougher and stronger men, like, let's say, LaMotta and beaten them. I never remember feeling any better. This one I've got to win."

There is a suspicion here that, despite the years and the odds, young Master Fullmer faces a rough evening. For here is a serious, determined Robinson no one ever has seen before.

"Fullmer didn't appear to be a hard puncher," he analyzes sternly. "I can't say for sure whether I hurt him but I will admit I made some mistakes. I held too much and I waited too long I forgot to fight like I can. This time it will be different."

The eyes from which the laughter is gone make that more of a vow than a promise

Fullmer Confident Over Bout

CHICAGO (UP)—Ray "Sugar" Robinson will have to be a better fighter May 1 than he was Jan 2 in order to regain the middleweight championship, titleholder Gene Fullmer said Wednesday.

"If that was an average fight for him," Fullmer said, "I don't think I've got much to worry about."

Fullmer said that Robinson fought "almost a perfect defensive fight" when he decisioned Sugar Ray in New York Jan. 2 to win the 160 pound crown.

Made Two Mistakes

"I'd say he only made about two mistakes," Fullmer said. "and I didn't hit him real well then. But he only gave me two good shots at him and that's almost perfect."

Fullmer, the early 7-2 favorite and already in training here for the May 1 title bout, has won his last 11 bouts and has lost only three times in 42 pro outings. His last defeat was Nov. 25, 1955 by Eduardo Lausse. The only other fighters to beat him were Bobby Boyd, Sept. 28, 1955, and Gil Turner, April 4, 1955. Since then he has beaten Turner twice.

"Don't get the idea Robinson isn't a good fighter," Fullmer said. "He never hurt me in our fight, although I guess he thinks he did once.

No Advance Strategy

"But when a fighter doesn't give you much chance to hurt him, he's a pretty good fighter. I think he was kinda of worried about going 15 rounds, too, and for this fight, he'll probably be just as worried."

Fullmer and his manager, Marv Jensen, kept secret any strategy they might use in the rematch with Robinson.

"We didn't fight him the first time the way we thought we would," Jensen said, "so even if we planned to fight him one way this time, we might not do it that way. It depends on what Robinson does."

"Gene's got a lot of things going for him," Jensen said "He's got awfully quick hands, a lot of stamina and strength, and he can take a good punch."

Canadiens Take 2-0 Lead in Hockey Series

MONTREAL (UP)— The Montreal Canadiens, powered by two clutch playoff victories in their own Forum, are ready to move into Boston Thursday with a 2-0 lead over the Bruins in defense of their Stanley Cup hockey title

The flexible Canadiens came up with "an oldtime playoff game" Tuesday night to edge the Bruins, 1-0, in the second game following a spectacular wide-open first game Saturday in which Maurice (Rocket) Richard scored four times.

"But we will have to show more offensive strength if we hope to win in Boston," said cautious Toe Blake, coach of the Habitants. "We were weak offensively, especially in the second period after Beliveau (center Jean Beliveau) scored."

"That was really a playoff game, though," he said. "One of the old-timers. I think maybe they (the Canadiens) started protesting that one-goal lead kind of soon, but it was still the best defensive game we have played."

In recent weeks Blake has complained about his defense, but he had no fault to find with it Tuesday night. Goalie Jacques Plante came up with "his best game of the series" and his sixth shutout in playoff competition. It also marked the first time the Bruins had been blanked in 69 games.

The close-checking game was in sharp contrast to Saturday's wide-open opener. The only score of the game came early in the second period when Beliveau walked in on goalie Don Simmons and beat the game rookie netminder after five or six fakes.

"I came straight in, shifted to the left and shot It passed him on the right side," Beliveau said

Delany Named Top Track Star

NEW YORK (UP) — Ron Delany, the Olympic 1,500 - meter champion from Villanova College, has been named the outstanding athlete of the 1957 indoor track and field season by the New York Metropolitan Track Writers Assn The gangling Irishman hasn't lost an indoor race in two years.

One for the Road

KNOXVILLE, Tenn (UP)— A judge dismissed a drunkenness charge against John H. Coggins, 40, Tuesday so he could return to where he started his tippling. "I was just celebrating after spending four years in prison," Coggins, of Thomasville, Ga., said. "If you'll let me go, I'll go on to Georgia where I started."

MHS Track Season Opens This Friday

Monessen High's young and inexperienced track team will begin its 1957 season on Friday at Brownsville.

Coach Cliff Jones refuses to kid himself about the current outlook. His youthful team probably won't come close to winning a meet.

And Brownsville shapes up as one of the tougher foes. The Brownies haven't lost a dual meet in three seasons. They've already handled two foes this year without trouble.

Practically the entire MHS track cast this season is made up of freshmen and sophomores So Jones is admittedly concentrating on the future.

He has only one boy who could challenge for Big Six honors this season He is miler George Donnell, who looked good in several meets last season even though he had a tendency to fade in the late going.

All Inexperienced

There isn't another experienced performer on the squad. Graduation completely wiped out last year's fine squad which won more first places in the 1956 Big Six meet than any other entry.

Rain and cold weather have teamed to greatly hamper cinder drills. That training lack is particularly serious for an inexperienced club like Monessen.

So far, four young springers have managed to attract Jones' attention They are Algie Link, John Sivak, Paul Dizak and Bob Pauline. The middle distance runs will have to be handled by George Selevo and Tracy Allen.

As for the field events, Jones still doesn't know who will enter them.

Cadilli Favored Over Moore in Bout Tonight

MIAMI, Fla (UP) — Slick Gil Cadilli was a 9-5 favorite to outfox slugger Davey Moore in a 10-rounder at the Biscayne Arena Tuesday night and a nationwide television audience may know the winner before the ringside fans.

The Miami Boxing Commission said it would make the round-by-round scoring available at the end of each round to be announced over the television network, providing sponsors do not object The arena audience would not be given the progressive standings. It was not definite, however, if the system would be tried out.

The two 24-year-old featherweights were expected to put on a first class boxer vs slugger exhibition scheduled for 10 p.m. est.

Cadilli, seventh-ranked featherweight from Los Angeles, Calif., is known for his tricky tactics and will be in the boxer's role. Moore, a former AAU champion and 1952 Olympic ace from Springfield, Ohio, is the slugger.

Seek Rematch

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., who lost an upset decision to Ralph Dupas Monday night, may get another crack at the New Orleans lightweight next month. Al Farb, a local promoter, said he is trying to stage a rematch here on the eve of the 500-mile Memorial Day auto race.

Section 17 Baseball Race May Begin Today

Bellmar Scheduled to Play Host To California; MHS Idle Today

The Section 17 baseball season may begin this afternoon. But don't bet on it.

At long last, the weather man has agreed to cooperate with clear skies in spite of chilly temperatures. That isn't exactly ideal baseball weather but it's better than the continual rainfall which has wiped out every scheduled game so far this season.

Oddly enough, only one valley game is "definitely" scheduled for this afternoon in spite of the "optimistic" forecast.

BULLETIN

Tomorrow's Monessen-Monongahela baseball game has been shifted to Ninth Street Park Monongahela officials requested the move, pointing out that the Wildcat diamond would not be ready in time.

The return meeting between the two schools on May 2 will be played at Monongahela.

Bellmar will play host to California at Fayette City.

There's also a chance that Monongahela and Donora will play at the latter's field. However Dragon officials were fearful that wet grounds may wash out that engagement.

Idle Today

Both Monessen and Charleroi will be idle today. They will return to action tomorrow.

Monessen is scheduled to appear at Monongahela while Charleroi will play host to Donora.

There is also one valley game tentatively scheduled for Friday The Bellmar-at-Monessen tussle has been recarded for that date

Today's exhibition tussle between Monessen and West Newton has been cancelled. Originally that encounter was to be played last week, but rain interferred.

Here then is how the schedule for the rest of the week shapes up

Wednesday
California at Bellmar
Monongahela at Donora
Thursday
Monongahela at Monessen
Donora at Charleroi
Friday
Bellmar at Monessen

Pirates, Tigers Set for Road Show

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Detroit Tigers open their "road show" here Wednesday.

The teams meet in the first of a five-game series they will play on the leisurely trip north for the start of the 1957 major league season.

The "road show" ends in Charleston, W. Va., Sunday. The following day, April 15, the Pirates will be honored with a "welcome home" parade in downtown Pittsburgh.

Manager Bobby Bragan and General Manager Joe L. Brown promised the entire squad of 29 players and four coaches would be on hand to participate in the parade. It will be the first welcoming parade in Pirate history.

Midget League To Build Stands

School Board Okays Project; All Asst. Grid Coaches Rehired

A Midget Football League proposal to build an elaborate concession stand at Memorial Stadium was unanimously approved last night during a meeting of the Monessen School Board.

The MFL will finance construction of a 90 foot concession stand on the adult side of the stadium in exchange for a five year rental contract at $1 per year.

If — and when — the league constructs a similar stand on the student side, another five year agreement will be made.

Thus the Midget League is assured of Stadium concession privileges for the next five years.

Allen Kline, president of the Midget League, said today that Alex Kachmarik, coach of the Frank-Lin team and a School Director, has been appointed chairman of the building project.

Complete Plans

Complete plans for the stand have already been prepared. More details of the promotion will be announced later.

Cost of the material alone will be about $2,000. The league is hoping to secure volunteer labor.

Work is scheduled to start in the near future.

The School Board also attended to other athletic business last night, including these actions:

REHIRE ASSISTANT COACHES: All assistant football coaches were rehired on recommendation of head football coach Armand Niccolai. Once again Niccolai's staff will include Al Romasco, Harry McCurdy, Nick Chomko, Joseph Gladys and Andy Kuzemka.

HIRE TENNIS COACH: Miss Antoinette Valentine, the only applicant, was elected tennis coach at a salary of $125. She will succeed Frank Janosik and Armond Niccolai who directed the tennis team without a compensation last season.

VOLLEYBALL SALARY: The volleyball coach John (Corky) DeMillion was awarded $100 for his 1957 duties. He directed both the junior and senior teams, spending at least six weeks with the volleyballers.

ALUMINUM GREYHOUND: The School Board accepted from the Class of 1957 the gift of an aluminum greyhound which will be attached to the facade at the Knox Ave. entrance of the Monessen High gym. The School District will assume responsibility for securing the gheyhound to the building.

ALL SPORTS BANQUET: The 1957 all sports banquet at Monessen High will be held May 9 in the cafeteria. Main speakers will be Eugene Danser, former Weiss Award winner; and S. S Townsend, first MHS basketball coach who will retire as West Newton High principal after the current school year.

BIG SIX CONSTITUTION: A proposed Big Six constitution prepared by principals at valley schools was accepted for study by the directors.

Present at last night's meeting were directors Alex Kachmarik, John Lancas, Nick Cullen, and Dr. Joseph Dudas, Sr.

Defending Champs In Semi-Finals Of AAU Boxing

BOSTON (UP) — Defending champions Albert Pell of New York City and Jim McCarter of Seattle, Wash., will lead 34 of the nation's best amateur fighters into and finals of the National AAU boxing championships at the Garden.

Pell, a cat-quick Negro with a talented pair of hands, will meet Bob LeFebre of Winooski, Vt., in the finals of the 112-pound division. Bruising heavyweight McCarter is set for a semi-final match in the tourney's 69th annual competition.

Champions will be crowned in 10 weight divisions from 112-pounds to heavyweight as the three-day show comes to a close.

The slender Pell scored a unanimous decision over aggressive Cyril Woodland of Philadelphia Tuesday night in his semi-final bout at the Arena.

Split Decision

LeFebre split decisioned Dick Johnson of Kearney, Neb., LeFebre is a member of the Albany, N.Y., AAU team.

McCarter won a split decision over Lamar Clark of Ogden, Utah, in his quarter-final round after drawing a bye in Monday night's action.

Other semi-finalists determined Tuesday night were George Cruz of South Dakota and Alex Ford of Youngstown, Ohio, in the 165-pound division, and Cardell Farmos of Boston and Lindy Lindimoser of Vancouver, B.C., in the 178-pound class. All four won by decision.

Five TKO'S

Three of the five TKO's Tuesday night — there were no knockouts—came in the rugged 139-pound division.

Two New York City lads, Lucius Allen and Vincent Shomo, racked up first-round victories. Joel Patrick of Indianapolis, Ind., stopped John Seymour of Detroit in the second round.

Tall, two-fisted Willie Moran of Louisville, Ky., scored one of the night's most impressive decision wins, using a three-inch reach and height advantage to outpoint scrappy Sidney Drayton of Boston in a 147-pound quarter-final match.

Waldorf Praises State Grid Talent

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pennsylvania high school football talent is among the best in the nation, according to Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, the famed former University of California coach.

Waldorf, now with the San Francisco Forty-Niners, showed up at a Pitt football practice session Tuesday in search of prospects for the pro club.

"Pennsylvania, Ohio and Texas have the best high school football," he said. "I'm not sure what order you'd rate them in, but certainly neither Ohio nor Texas is any better than Pennsylvania."

Monongahela in 4-0 Soccer Win

Undefeated Monongahela High romped to its fourth sectional victory in soccer yesterday, turning back Scott Twp., 4-0.

The defending WPIAL champions scored two goals in the second period, one in the third stanza and another in the fourth quarter. Frank DeRosa accounted for two goals, Pete Legeza had one and Fred Cox another.

Boston Takes Lead in Pro Cage Series

BOSTON (UP)— The Boston Celtics were a confident lot Wednesday as they headed west to meet the St. Louis Hawks, needing just one more game to clinch their first National Basketball Association championship.

A victory for the Celtics Thursday night in the sixth game of the NBA title series would give Boston its first league crown in eleven years.

Bill Sharman poured in 32 points, 20 during Boston's second half surge Tuesday night, to give the Celtics a 124-109 victory here and a 3-2 edge in the playoffs.

Sharman had brilliant assistance from former Holy Cross stars Bob Cousy and rookie Tommy Heinsohn while leading the Celtics out of early disorganization to the vital triumph. The two ex-Crusaders, with 21 and 23 points respectively, caught fire with Sharman as Boston battled back from a 60-59 half time disadvantage to win going away.

The spectacular Boston teamwork overshadowed another typical starring display by St. Louis ace Bob Pettit, who was the game's high scorer with 33 points. He, Cliff Hagan and Jack McMahon were the big men in keeping St. Louis in the battle most of the way. But the Hawks—playing with just eight men — didn't have enough guns to keep up with the Celtics.

Barons Seek Another Ice Title

CLEVELAND (UP)— Versatile Ron Ingram, who doesn't care where he plays so long as he plays, has the Cleveland Barons off and winging in pursuit of their sixth American Hockey League Calder Cup.

Ingram, an aggressive but unasusming workman on skates, slapped in the decisive overtime goal Tuesday night to give the Barons a 2-1 victory over the Rochester Americans in the opening game of the AHL's best-of-seven-playoff finale.

The 23-year-old Baron wingman's goal came at 48 seconds of the overtime period after teammate Dan McLellan's score in the middle stanza had tied the game. Bronco Horvath, at 5:59 of the first period, recorded Rochester's lone tally.

Calder Cup competition moves to Rochester Wednesday night back to Cleveland Saturday, and to the home of the Americans again Sunday.

Pitt Gridder Signs for Movies

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Tom Jenkins, handsome fullback on the University of Pittsburgh football team, has been spotted by a talent scout. Not a pro football scout, but a Hollywood scout.

Jenkins said Tuesday he expects to sign a seven-year option contract room with Twentieth Century Fox.

He was picked by a studio scout at a rehearsal for the Pitt Players' production. "Brigadoon," which will be staged this month with Jenkins in the leading role.

Jenkins, 22, of East Liverpool, Ohio, said he's been "fairly serious about acting" since he began taking part in Pitt Players' productions two years ago.

Buc Farm Hand Fractures Ankle

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Hollywood outfielder Emil Panko suffered a broken left ankle Tuesday in the Stars' last practice session before traveling to San Diego, Calif., for their Pacific Coast League season opener against the Padres.

Club officials said he would probably be sidelined for at least six weeks. Panko twisted the ankle in a papper game during the Gilmore Field drill, officials said.

Panko, 22, hit 33 home runs for the New Orleans club last year. He is property of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Chicago Ready to Take Pan-American Games

CHICAGO (UP)— The city of Chicago has re-affirmed its desire to hold the 1959 Pan American Games on the shores of Lake Michigan and said it was the money necessary for the track and field event which officially designated Cleveland doesn't have.

The Lake Erie city, designated host city for the game by the Pan American Sports Congress Executive Committee, counted on a five-million dollar federal appropriation for "proper financing" of the games.

Not so Chicago. A spokesman for the city government said Chicago had all the money necessary and plenty of facilities in which to hold the gigantic athletic event.

"Chicago will be highly honored to be selected as the city for the locale of the game," Mayor Richard J. Daley said.

With Cleveland's lack of funds the Windy City looked as if it were the only hope of holding the games in the United States.

No Federal Aid

In Washington, it was reported a House Appropriations subcommittee would not recommend a federal appropriation for the games. And several other countries — Guatemala, Mexico and Brazil—have indicated they aren't prepared to stage the games even though they are considered alternate sites.

Cleveland officials said they could not hold the Western Hemisphere sports event without the five-million dollars in federal aid. But they contend that while Cleveland was to be the host city, the United States still is designated as the host nation.

Curtis Lee Smith, president of Cleveland's Chamber of Commerce, said, "We have said all along that we. . .cannot stage the games without federal help.

Need Help

"If Congress wants the games in the United States it will have to help us stage them," Curtis said.

Cleveland Mayor Anthony Celebrezze said he would have a definite answer next week on the city's ability to handle the games. Although Douglas Roby, president of the Pan American Sports Congress, said Cleveland had until May 1 to decide, Celebrezze apparently didn't plan to wait that long.

Delaying action until next week, however, indicated Cleveland was still making an effort to raise the necessary money for the games.

Three New Entries In Junior WPIAL

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Etna Richland Township and Jefferson-Morgan were admitted to the Junior WPIAL Tuesday night at a meeting at the University of Pittsburgh.

Gordon E Dannels of Swissvale was re-elected president of the organization. Other officers elected were Al Ferrara, Donora, vice president; Leo Semes, Trafford, secretary; J. E. Magee, Duquesne, treasurer, and J. E. McCloskey, Springdale, and A. W. Mitchell, Beaver Falls, members of the decision committee.

John Geebos, Wilkinsburg, chairman of the track committee, announced the league's track meet would be held at Mt. Lebanon May 22.

Big Entry List In Ladies Bowling

DAYTON, Ohio (UP)—The third largest women's International Bowling Congress will open here Thursday with an entry list of 4,098 teams and a total of $109,584 in prize money. The tourney continues through May 27.

Dayton heads the entry list with 788 teams entered, followed by Detroit with 126, Cincinnati 89, Toledo 78, Columbus 60 and Chicago 56. Ohio has 1,525 teams entered, followed by Michigan with 345 and Indiana with 282.

Women enter and leave the American labor force at an earleir age than men.

Warren Hacker Going Great For Cincy in Spring Drills

By UNITED PRESS

Warren Hacker, who was plagued by the home run ball for many years, is discovering why Cincinnati Redleg pitchers call it their best friend.

Hacker, who won only three games for the Chicago Cubs last season, chalked up his fourth victory of the Grapefruit League campaign Tuesday when the Redlegs unleashed a barrage of six homers to beat the Washington Senators, 9-7. The Redlegs have walloped a total of nine homers behind Hacker this spring and scored 36 runs in the five games he's pitched.

Wally Post blasted two homers and Gus Bell, Ted Kluszewski, Frank Robinson and Jerry Lynch hit one each as the Redlegs made it 40 round-trippers in 29 exhibition games. That's a pace of 212 over a 154 - game stretch compared to their record-tying total of 221 last season.

Bums Edge Braves

The National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers snapped a four-game losing streak when they whipped the Milwaukee Braves, 5-4, with a four-run rally in the ninth inning. A record crowd of 9,147 at Tulsa, Okla., saw Charley Neal's bases - filled double break up the contest after Warren Spahn in one of his few appearances against the Dodgers, yielded only three hits and one run over the first six frames.

Al Worthington and Joe Margoneri collaborated in a five-hitter as the New York Giants downed the Cleveland Indians, 4-2. Worthington allowed both Cleveland runs and four hits in the first seven innings. Ray Narleski, working for the first time since he suffered a broken finger on March 13, pitched two hitless innings for the Indians.

Rookie Paces Cubs

Cal Neeman, a rookie who still hopes to beat out Ray Katt or Charley Silvera for the Chicago Cubs' regular catching job, drove in four runs with a homer and two doubles in an 8-3 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

The Chicago White Sox made only five hits but collected 14 walks to take a 6-5 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals. Sam Jones, Bob Mabe and Jim Davis were the pitching culprits for the Cardinals. Jones was the worst offender, yielding five hits and seven walks and hitting two men in five frames.

Andy Carey bopped an eight-inning homer that enabled the New York Yankees to beat the Milwaukee Braves' Jacksonville farm club of the Sally League, 5-4. Mickey Mantle also homered for the Yankees and kept his spring average at .350.

George Brunet and Ken Johnson, optioned out by Kansas City only this week, pitched seven-hit ball as the Little Rock Travelers embarrassed the parent Athletics, 5-4.

Hearing Friday On Eubanks Case

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The state Athletic Commission will hold a hearing Friday on the claim of welterweight boxer Johnny Eubanks that he received only $170 of a $700 purse earned in a fight with Wilf Greaves, Feb. 28.

Eubanks, his manager, Bunny Buntag, and his trainer, Mike Bazzone, will appear at the hearing before Commissioner Paul Sullivan.

Sugar Ray Is Drilling Hard

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (SP) — Sugar Ray Robinson is concetrating on his counter-punching in workouts for his return title fight with middleweight champion Gene Fullmer at Chicago May 1. The ex-champ weighed 165 pounds following another four rounds of sparring Tuesday.

Hank Thompson Sold by Giants To Minneapolis

By UNITED PRESS

Hank Thompson, one of the first Negroes to break into the American League and later a star third - baseman in the National League, was sold to Minneapolis of the American Assn. Wednesday along with three New York Giant prospects.

Sent out with Thompson were pitchers Jim Constable and Fernando Rodriguez and infielder Eddie Bressoud. The cuts reduced the Giants' roster to 30 players.

Thompson and Willie Brown, also an infielder, were the first Negroes to play in the American League, joining the St. Louis Browns in 1947. Thompson, 31, was back in the Negro leagues in 1948, but in 1949 came up with the Giants and stayed with them continuously except for a brief period during 1951.

Lou Kretlow, a 33-year-old right hander once viewed as a potential star, was sold by the Kansas City Athletics to Seattle. He won only four games and lost nine for the Athletics last season and had a 27-47 major league record. The Athletics also optioned pitcher Dave Newhuk to Shreveport of the Texas League and Carl Duser to Little Rock of the Southern Assn.

The world champion New York Yankees reduced their squad to 26 players when they sent pitcher Jim Depalo and catcher John Blanchard to Denver in the American Assn. The Chicago Cubs trimmed their roster to 29 by sending Gene Fodge to Fort Worth and Johnny Briggs to Portland. Both young right-handed pitchers went out on option.

Close Scores in Electric League

Ohms won two games from the Volts and Amps took a pair from the Watts in Blooming Mill Electric League bowling last night.

Scoring leaders were Bob McKeever, 196-499; Cy Brown, 195-483; Tony Cocciolone, 183-477; Forest Loulis, 177-447; Nick Tonini, 167-436; and Ray Calderone, 165-425.

Standings show Volts, 28-14; Ohms, 24-18; Amps, 21-21; Watts, 11-31.

Browns Release Exhibition Card

CLEVELAND (UP)—The Cleveland Browns announced Wednesday they have scheduled their first home exhibition game against the Detroit Lions at Municipal Stadium here the night of Sept. 14.

The game will give Ohio football fans a chance to see ex-Ohio (Hopalong) Cassady. Cassady, an All-American in 1954 and 1955, joined the Lions in 1956 after graduation.

It will be the third pre-season game for the Browns who meet the San Francisco 49ers Sept. 1 and the Los Angeles Rams on Sept. 6.

Three more exhibition tilts will be scheduled.

Earlier, Coach Paul Brown announced the signing of veterans Harold Bradley, Mike McCormack, Galen Fiss and Junior Wren to 1957 contracts.

Peacocks Sweep In DIC Bowling

Peacocks blanked the Robins and Flamingos won a pair from the Concords in DIC Women's League bowling last night.

Scoring leaders were Cleo Bronson, 108-278; Delphia Howell, 113-264; Ann Mae Carson, 97-244; and Vicky Lockett, 89-244.

Standings show Peacocks, 26-7; Robins, 13-19; Flamingos, 17-14; and Concords, 15-17.

Washington Twp. PTA Plans for Year Discussed

The executive committee of the Washington Township Parent Teacher Association met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Alice Davis. Present were Mrs. Ella Liptrot, Mrs. Theresa Belsick, Mrs. Mary Wysochanski, Mrs. Margaret Pozum, Mrs. Evelyn Stump, Mrs. Betty Hamer, Mrs. Catherine Eversburg, Mrs. Jessie Perun and Mrs. Russell Cope. Mrs. Mary Sediak, president, was in charge.

The session was devoted to planning for the remainder of the club year and for the meeting of the membership planned for next Monday evening, in the Marion Junior High School auditorium.

Chairmen of the various committees gave reports. Mrs. Hamer reporting for the nominating committee announced that the vacancy in the office of recording secretary will be filled by Mrs. Robert Hartsock.

Delegates were chosen to represent the unit at two conferences, the Hempfield School meeting and the Pittsburgh Conference at the Hotel Sheraton on May 4 and 18 respectively. Mrs. Zella Britton, Mrs. Margaret Porum and Mrs. Hartsock will be the voting delegates, however, other unit members will attend.

Mrs. Russell Cope was named chairman and Mrs. Liptrot, co-chairman of the committee in charge of serving refreshments at the Marion Junior High School Spring dance on April 29.

Announcement was made that the Marion third grade taught by Mrs. Sara Kirby was the winner of the home room banner at the March unit meeting.

The program for next Monday's meeting will be a panel discussion titled "Our School Problems — Let's Face Them". Raymond Helterbran will act as moderator and panel members will be Joseph Brisbane, Bellmarette Joint Elementary School Supervisor; Blandon Bulger, president of the Bellmarette Joint School Board; James Houseman, Fairhope Principal and Martha Baron, guidance instructor.

Fire Auxiliary Plans Party On April 15

The Washington Township Volunteer Fire Co. Ladies Auxiliary met on Monday evening in the ..re hall with the president, Mrs. Honor Hamer, in charge and 23 members present. Chaplain Edna Axton conducted the opening.

The report of committees included a report that Mrs. Emma Wilson was ill. It was decided to remember shut-in members at Easter time.

The ways and means committee announced plans for a party on April 15 at 7:30 o'clock in the fire hall.

For the social hour members of the blue team were hostesses to members of the gold team, who won a ways and means contest. Mrs. May Mitchell, blue team captain, was general chairman. Luncheon was served at a large table centered with a decorated cake and each cover was marked with an Easter bonnet favor.

Hostesses for the next meeting will be Mary Spiker and Shirley Malinka.

A letter was received from one of the shut-in members, Magdalene Biles, who resides at the Hester Convalescent Home, Conneautville, Pa.

Senior Catholic Daughters Meet; Discuss Plans

The Belle Vernon Court Senior Catholic Daughters of America met on Monday evening in the church basement. The session followed rosary led by Maude McCauley.

Three women attended a Day of Recollection at St. Emma's retreat house in Greensburg on Sunday and Mrs. Betty Smerezniak reported on this activity. Ann Sarnoski and Mary Silvania also attended.

An invitation was extended from the Uniontown Court to attend initiation of new members at the White Swan Hotel, April 20.

A donation was voted to the Cancer Fund and the report of the audit committee was given by Cecilia Sadowsky.

Miss Catherine McDonough was reported a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and Judith Semancik was also reported ill.

The following nominating committee was named, Ernestine Giuliano, chairman, Cecilia McClintock, Theresa Toth, Dena Zanardelli and Ruth Steen. The election will take place in May.

Millie Angelo read a poem, "Say So" and the Rev. David Fisher spoke on the Lenten rules. A prize was won by Ernestine Giuliano and a guest award went to Hazel Costello.

There was no social hour due to Lent.

Mrs. Virginia Abbott, Grand Regent; Mrs. McCauly, Vice Regent, Mrs. Barbara Sendek, Mrs. Sellin Price, Mrs. Betty Smerezniak and Mrs. Mary Smerezniak attended a testimonial luncheon on Saturday in Greensburg at the Penn Albert Hotel honoring Supreme Regent Frances Maher and State Regent Mrs. Mae Schasny.

Speaker for the testimonial was Msgr. Cyril J. Vogel and the Rev. Fr. Alphonse Mihm also took part in the program. Toastmaster was Mrs. Joan Newberry, Greensburg Diocesan Chairman.

Local Priests Move Into New Rectory

St. Sebastian R.C. Church priests, the Very Rev. Henry Hanse, the Rev. Henry Murphy and the Rev. David L. Fisher moved on Monday from the rectory on Speer street to the new rectory provided on Broad avenue.

The stone home is adjacent to the new church and school building and marks the ending of a major building program. Some few details remain to be completed on the rectory.

Open house will be held for the members of the parish at a later date.

Routine Reports At Fire Meeting

Routine reports were given at the Monday evening meeting of the North Belle Vernon Fire Co. in the fire hall with President Vic Silvestro in charge.

Plans were made to have fire practice next Monday evening. It was also decided to have a representative of the Motorola Co. present at the April 22 meeting to discuss features of the land base radio station.

Elaine Essey has returned to her home in Belle Vernon R. D. after being a patient in the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Nellie Hickle, of Belle Vernon R. D. 3, is a medical patient in the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Bellmarette Joint Budget Is Presented

The proposed budget for the 1957-58 school term was presented at a meeting of the Bellmarette Joint School Board on Monday evening in the Bellmar High School Library.

The total budget amounts to $632,608.81 and after the deduction of estimated receipts and balance on hand it leaves the amount of $591,353.81 to be pro-rated among the four component boards, Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon, Washington Township and Fayette City.

President Blandon Bulger was in charge of the session with all members of both the Belle Vernon and North Belle Vernon boards in attendance. Attending from Washington Township were John Kasuda, Bulger and Stanley Koslasky and from Fayette City, James Hamer, George Hancock and Charles Lakel.

Supervising Principal Robert VanBremen, Elementary Supervisor Joseph Brisbane, Solicitor J. E. Costello, Fayette County Superintendent A. J. McMullen and Assistant Harry Riffle were present.

VanBremen reported he had contacted Superintendent McMullen, and the State Department of Public Instruction concerning reports on the condition of the Belle Vernon Elementary School and was assured that the building was in no way condemned, but due to its age was one of the schools in the state listed for replacement if federal funds ever become available.

McMullen assured the Belle Vernon board that the building is safe and usable. A bulletin concerning this matter will be forthcoming from the Department of Public Instruction.

Teacher to Retire

An invitation was received from James Houseman inviting the men to a dinner at Monongahela Valley Country Club on April 30 honoring Mrs. Lillie Roy, a teacher in the Fairhope School, who is retiring.

Notification was received from the School Employes Retirement Board concerning Social Security. VanBremen reported that teachers will vote on Social Security May 25, 26 and 27 and a Social Security meeting was announced for tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at Bellmar High School.

A report was given on a meeting held by the administration and personnel committees and representatives of the Speers School District to discuss the possibility of jointure.

J. E. Kuhn reported for the special building committee that progress is being made in plans and specifications for additions to Bellmar High School and Marion Junior High School and it is hoped that bids may be taken on May 15 of June 1. A letter of approval was received from the State for the mechanical engineering staff employed by Architect Compton.

The completed Marion Junior High plans are in the process of being checked by the State School Building Authority. A meeting of the special committee is set for tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at Vernon Junior High School.

The building and grounds committee submitted a report of proposed expenditures for next year and announced a painting program as in previous summers. Bap Manzini and Fred Renstrom will be in charge. Bids will be advertised for the paints.

Repairs of the steps and seats at Bellmar Stadium were planned. All capable and available janitors will be employed in the wall washing program.

To Inspect Buildings

Each member of this committee will inspect another school than his own and then recommend needed repairs.

Dr. Harold Underwood reported for the athletic committee and advised that all athletes should be examined before each sport. In accordance with a request by the Belle Vernon board, baskets will be installed at the Market St. Playground, which will be open each evening after school for a few hours.

Bids were received for athletic supplies from A. W. Dice, Monessen Sport Shop and LaSalle Products. These were turned over to the committee for review and contracts will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder.

VanBremen reported for the transportation committee that this committee met with Mr. Riffle, county officers and Vesley Brothers and made plans to negotiate a new contract.

Carmine Natalini submitted the supplies and equipment committee report and listed requirements for budgetary purposes.

Personnel Chairman Kuhn reported the resignation of Elaine Lazzari, secretary to Brisbane effective April 12, and Mrs. Phyllis Melvin was elected to the post. Secretarial jobs for the high school principal and elementary supervisor were equalized.

Applications for summer work were received from Harold Underwood and Reo Lazzari. There were filed.

VanBremen listed tests planned for the elementary schools. Elected to secondary teaching positions were Eleanor Babich and Georgetta Eicher.

It was decided that VanBremen will present diplomas at commencement. Polio shots were given yesterday at Bellmar High School and North Belle Vernon Elementary School and will be given later in the Fayette County schools.

VanBremen was authorized to take away driving privileges from students, who drive to school and are not careful. Clifford Breakwell submitted the financial report, which was approved.

The board, all district principals, Fayette County officials, Westmoreland County Assistant Superintendent Clawson, secretaries Mrs. Patty Bell and Jean Tintori, North Belle Vernon Custodian Ambrose were entertained at a late dinner prepared and served by the Future Homemakers of America under the direction of the home economics teacher, Christine Lykos, after the meeting.

Child Welfare Meeting Will Be Held Friday

The Child Welfare meeting for the Ladies Auxiliary of American Legion Post 659 will be held Friday evening in the club room of the Post Home. Mrs. Olive Palfrey is child welfare chairman.

The guest speaker will be Joseph E. Ferrari, of East Belle Vernon, president of the Fayette County Child Welfare Board.

A moving picture will be shown by Dr. R. Sphar, of Charleroi and another guest will be Imajean Smith, of Uniontown, Tri-County Auxiliary vice chairman of Juniors.

This meeting will be open to the public and a special invitation has been extended to Girl Scouts and Brownies and their leaders and to members of the Junior Auxiliary.

A social hour will conclude the evening.

Damian Conforti, of Wilkinsburg, visited Saturday with his sister, Mrs. S. F. Orlando, of Speer street.

Name Chairman Of Easter Sale

Mrs. Mary Ferrari, of East Belle Vernon, has been appointed chairman of the Easter Lily Seal sale in the Belle Vernon area. She has asked for the assistance of Girl Scouts in conducting a house to house canvass and offering the little Easter flower for sale.

The Scouts will conduct this canvass on Saturday, April 13.

Eden Undergoing Series of Tests

BOSTON (UP)—Sir Anthony Eden was given new laboratory tests Wednesday by Lahey Clinic physicians in an attempt to learn the cause of persistent fever attacks which have endangered his health.

Dr. Richard B. Cattell, Lahey surgeon who operated on Eden in 1953, said Tuesday that he was in "no pain." He said "several days" of tests will be necessary to diagnose the intestinal illness which forced Eden to cut short a New Zealand vacation.

DENIES FINANCIAL BENEFITS — Robert Tripp Ross, former assistant defense secretary who resigned under fire, talks with his wife before talking to a House government operations subcommittee about the $20 million in defense contracts awarded his wife's clothing firm. He testified that since taking a Pentagon post he received no "financial benefits" from the companies involved.

Bill Would Stiffen Narcotics Penalties

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate Wednesday received House approved legislation permitting imposition of the death penalty for persons convicted of illegally selling or giving narcotics to minors.

The House passed the bill, 122-62, over protests that the death penalty was too "stiff." The legislation specifies that anyone furnishing morphine or heroin to minors could be sentenced to imprisonment ranging from at least 10 years to life, pay a $20,000 fine or be sentenced to the electric chair. At present only first-degree murder is punishable by death in Pennsylvania.

The severeity of the punishment would be up to the discretion of the jury or sentencing judge. Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron) who sponsored the legislation, said it would bring state laws covering narcotics violators into line with federal laws which contain the death penalty.

The House action Tuesday followed in the wake of a warning by federal narcotics officials that drastic penalties were needed to curb a sharp upswing in the illegal drug traffic in Pennsylvania

Testifying before the state Senate Public Health and Welfare Committee, the officials said the Commonwealth's statutes on illicit drugs were "weak" and do not match much sterner penalties in neighboring states.

The committee held a public hearing to decide on whether to report favorably on a three-bill package designed to strengthen enforcement of state narcotics laws.

One bill would impose fines up to $15,000 and a life jail term for third offenders convicted of peddling drugs. Two other bills would create a three-member State Narcotics Commission with power to hire its own agents for law enforcement and transfer jurisdiction over narcotics control from the state Health Department to the new commission.

Harry J. Anslinger, federal narcotics commissioner at Pittsburgh, told the committee that many narcotics peddlers have come into Pennsylvania because the state "has not kept pace with adjoining states on penalties."

"You have good police and good prosecutors but a very weak law," Anslinger said. "You are now in the unenviable position of approaching New York City in the illicit drug traffic."

Anslinger said a sharp rise in narcotics traffic was noted particularly in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Joseph N. Bransky, federal narcotics chief in the Philadelphia area, also testified at the hearing

The auto industry in the United States consumes organic chemicals valued at nearly 590 million dollars annually.

Leader in Discussion Of Turnpike Changes

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader scheduled a meeting Wednesday with officials from cities along the Pennsylvania Turnpike to discuss legislation to completely revamp the governing body of the superhighway.

Administration legislation to replace the present Turnpike Commission with an unsalaried board has been introduced in the House and is in the Highways Committee.

Committee Chairman Blaine C. Hocker (R-Dauphin) said he had "no knowledge" of what action the 21-member committee would take on the legislation. Hocker said he had not studied the bill thoroughly, but added he was not receptive to an unsalaried board replacing the commission.

"I'm doubtful of people who work for nothing...I don't think much of a $1-a-year people, you might say," Hocker said.

The turnpike would be operated by an executive director under the provisions of the legislation. Present commissioners serve 10-year terms at $13,000 annually while the chairman is paid $15,000.

Leader repeated his request that the Assembly act on the "drastically needed reforms."

"The next move is squarely up to the Assembly," he said. "If it adopts legislation recommended by this administration, it will enable us to follow through our important first steps with essential reforms that will long benefit the Commonwealth."

The governor said the "first steps" include appointment of Dr. Merritt Williamson, Pennsylvania State University engineering dean, as Turnpike Commission chairman and insistence the commission obey administrative code regulations requiring competitive bidding on projects.

The Turnpike Commission has been torn by scandal, with two of members suspended after grand jury indictment. One commissioner, a former chairman and several others also are under indictment in connection with an alleged multi-million dollar swindle of turnpike funds.

Penn State Is Winner in Fight

HARRISBURG (UP)—Pennsylvania State University officials have won the first round in their fight for increased funds to operate the state supported school.

The House Monday received bipartisan legislation to appropriate $33,849,000 to the institution for the 1957-59 fiscal period, more than six million dollars over Gov. George M. Leader's budget request.

Dr. Eric A. Walker, university president, had termed the $27,713,400 suggested appropriation by Leader as a "disaster budget." Walker told an alumni meeting in Philadelphia last month he would ask the Legislature to provide additional funds.

Easter Sunday Sunrise Services To Be Combined

The Webster Community Service was held Sunday evening in the Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Joseph Marasco, of Washington, Pa., as guest speaker. He was introduced by George Johnson.

The community choir, accompanied by Dora Richey, sang "Oh, That Will be Glory". Mr. Marasco also sang two solos. William Maurer gave the offertory prayer.

It was announced there will be a combined Easter Sunrise service including Webster Presbyterian, Webster Methodist and Fells Methodist churches in the Fells Church with the Rev. John Shell, of Webster Methodist, principal speaker.

A film was shown on the new Pinebrook Bible Conference.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mr. Shell. It was announced that special services will be held April 29 through May 5, with the Rev. Anthony Zeoli, of Philadelphia, as evangelist.

Rostraver Youth Choir Rehearsal Tonight

The Rostraver Youth Choir will meet tomorrow night at 7:45 at Webster Methodist Church. All members are urged to attend. The choir will present a singspiration rally to be held May 5. This will be the last rally until fall.

The trustees of Pricedale Union Church will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the church.

Harry Hollander, of Pricedale, who had been a patient in Magee Hospital, Pittsburgh, has returned home.

The Lions Club will meet tonight at 7:30 at Sweeney's Restaurant for its regular meeting.

The Good News Bible Class of Webster Presbyterian Church will meet tomorrow evening.

Hungarian Card Party Winners Are Announced

The Hungarian Ladies Auxiliary, of Pricedale, held a regular card party Monday.

Prizes in 500 went to Isabelle Vincentich, first, and Lena Hollander, second. Euchre awards were won by Ann Lucas, first, and Elizabeth Marciniak, second. Door prizes were won by Donna Evans and Ann Thot. Special prizes were won by Susan Nagy and Ann Lucas.

Lunch was served by the committee consisting of Elizabeth Nescot, chairman, assisted by Betty Roskevitch, Joanna Sabo, Marge Summers and Margaret Raboci.

The next card party will be held at the Hungarian Hall, Pricedale, Monday. The public is invited.

The Olive Branch Ladies Aid and Missionary Society will meet Thursday.

Truck Ploughs Into Children

SAFFORD, Ariz. (UP)—A pickup truck ploughed into a group of children walking along a quiet side street, killing four of them and critically injuring two others, sheriff's officers said today.

All of the dead and one of the injured were members of the same family.

Officers identified those killed in the incident last night at Virginia Bracamonte, 12; Avelino Bracamonte, 5; Andy Bracamonte, 9; and Patsy Bracamonte, 7.

Critically injured were Roberto Bracamonte, 8, and Ray Arrellin, 14. Hospital authorities said these two were injured so seriously that they might die within a few hours.

The driver of the truck, identified by officers as Antonio Alivas, 64, was booked in county jail pending charges of negligent homicide and driving under the influence of alcohol.

'HITLER' APPEARS — Togged out as the late and unlamented Adolph Hitler, Col. Gerard C. Cowan, U. S. Army recruiting chief of the Second Army area, walks down street in Chardon, O., without getting any attention. It was the Cleveland suburb's annual Maple Syrup festival, and it was snowing eight inches worth, so "Hitler" took a back seat to weather.

Gunmen Invade Home; Threaten Pair with Fire

CANONSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Two gunmen invaded a couple's home at nearby Donaldson's Crossroads last night and threatened to burn down the house unless they were given all the money "hidden" there.

The thugs left after an hour with $135 which the couple, William and Christine McDowell, said was all the money kept in the house.

McDowell, 66, told state police that when his wife answered the front door, one of the gunmen burst in, bound him and his wife with rope and forced them to lie face down on a floor. He covered their heads with a pillow slip and cushion.

The second gunman then entered the house and ransacked it while the first man kept a pistol against Mrs. McDowell's temple.

Unable to find "big" money, the thugs struck McDowell's face and set fire to papers on a floor, threatening to burn down the house. The thugs put out the blaze before it could spread to furnishings and left.

McDowell, a semi-retired farmer, once owned the land on which the Alcoa Dam is located.

Civil Defense Funds Are Distributed

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Civil Defense Counsel has mailed checks totaling $7,037 to 11 communities to help defray costs of civil defense materials and services purchased by the political subdivisions.

The subdivisions sent checks included:

Kennedy Twp., Allegheny County, $1,039 for communications services; Glassport, $375 for police services; Vernon Twp., Crawford County, $565 for communications services.

McCarthys, Eisenhowers in Snubs

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. and Mrs. Joseph R. McCarthy have traded snubs with the White House in their running social feud with President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

In return for the social snub the Eisenhowers dealt the McCarthys last month when they dropped their names from the guest list for a White House congressional reception, Mrs. McCarthy failed to appear or even answer an invitation in advance to the First Lady's annual lunch for Senate wives Tuesday.

There was some conflict over just how the invitation was extended in the first place.

Mrs. McCarthy said she only got a relayed oral invitation a few days ago. The White House said she got a formal engraved invitation March 15 "like all the other wives."

But that apparently is a small detail.

"Even if I had received an invitation I wouldn't have gone because if they didn't invite my husband because of his fight against Communism, I would hardly accept," Mrs. McCarthy told reporters.

Mrs. McCarthy said the invitation came only by phone to her husband's office Friday. She said the office had been unable to reach her about it until about 1 p.m. Tuesday — just when the lunch began in the festively-decorated state dining room.

Nixon Spending Time in Florida

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is spending several days in Florida resting and recuperating from a recent illness and his tiring African trip, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Nixon left town quietly over the week end for an announced Florida vacation hideaway. It was his first vacation since shortly after the November election.

Segregation Story—

South Won't Give Up Segregation Battle For Many Bitter Years

(This is the first of four stories sizing up the Negro segregation situation three years after the Supreme Court ruling.)

By AL KUETTNER

ATLANTA (UP) — The white South today seems determined to cling to the segregation of Negro and white for many bitter years to come.

It will give up, if it must, on the fringes. But it will use every tactic to forestall racial mixing in public schools, churches and other "close contact" fields.

May 17 marks the third anniversary of the Supreme Court's historic school desegregation ruling. Yet only 20 per cent of the public schools in 17 states segregated at that time have lowered race bars.

And in eight "Deep South" states the percentage is zero!

The South is in a state of siege against the federal enforcement of civil rights court orders. Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) calls it "massive resistance."

Talking privately with the South's leaders, you get the impression that integration is coming—but not during their lifetime. They are playing a deadly serious game of trying to outwit the courts. So far they have been largely successful.

Anyone who thinks, for example, that Georgia would hesitate to close its public schools rather than integrate them just isn't up on Georgia's temper on this subject.

Negroes are finding there is a world of difference in winning a court victory and actually crossing the color line.

After a year-long boycott of buses in Montgomery, Ala., and eight months of the same in Tallahassee, Fla., Negroes achieved a complete legal triumph for integrated facilities. But in daily practice the buses in both cities are as segregated in their seating arrangements as they ever were.

In one case after another, Negroes have won just about every civil rights battle they fought. But actual integration has been very sparse, indeed.

It is limited mainly to the integration of 700 school districts in the Border States, including one as far south as Clinton, Tenn.

There has been quite a change in attitude among the white leadership in the past year. With recovery from the first chill of the Supreme Court ruling, there is a growing feeling among state officials that regions can retain most of their old customs for many years by entwining them in a legal snarl.

NEXT: The Negro attitude.

Ike Evacuation By Helicopter In Test Alert

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower, his staff, and an emergency pool of newsmen will be evacuated by helicopter during the civil defense Operation Alert in July.

The two small "ranger" helicopters for the President's use have been delivered to the Air Force and are undergoing test at Olmstead Air Force Base in Middletown, Pa. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the tests will continue for at least another month.

Hagerty said there also will be test flights, without the President aboard, between the south lawn of the White House and the Washington National Airport.

Hagerty expressed the opinion that these helicopters will not be used "at any time" to transport the President from the White House to the Burning Tree Golf Club.

Asks no Benefits For Idled Workers

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican Sen. James S. Berger (Potter) has asked the Legislature to prohibit unemployment compensation benefits to workers idled by labor disputes, including lockouts.

A bill introduced by Berger Monday would amend the Unemployment Compensation Law to make ineligible for benefits employes idled "because of a labor dispute at his own plant or elsewhere in this or any other state involving his employer."

The amendment would remove the present provision which allows benefits in cases of lockouts.

Air-Safety Program Is Sent to Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower plans to send Congress a broad air-safety program including a proposal to create aerial "superhighways."

The blueprint, drawn up by the President's aviation facilities planning group, would provide for:

—Creation of a powerful independent airways modernization board charged with coordinating all research in the field of air safety.

—Drastic revision of present air traffic rules to eliminate the increasing collision menace.

—An aerial "superhighway" network with certain routes reserved for planes of similar speeds.

Plan Outlined

Edward P. Curtis, chairman of the planning group and vice president of Eastman Kodak, gave Eisenhower and Republican legislative leaders a preview of the plan Tuesday at the White House. Senate GOP Leader William F Knowland (Calif.) said afterward it probably would be sent to Congress Thursday.

A source close to the Curtis group told the United Press the proposed airways modernization board would be more than "just another study group." He said Congress will be asked to give it definite authority and responsibilities for air safety.

It was not clear whether the board also would have the authority to order new air traffic control devices or regulations into effect, thus superceding the Civil Aeronautics Board and Civil Aeronautics Administration. One source said the Curtis group would like to "give the board some teeth," but that it did not want to step on the toes of existing federal agencies dealing with civil aviation.

Revision Of Rules

To handle current air traffic more efficiently and safely, the Curtis group was expected to recommend swift revisions in present air traffic rules.

For example, the New York-Washington airways would be increased from two to six. Some would handle only twin-engined planes while others would be for faster four-engined airliners. Such a system would compare to an automotive highway with one lane reserved for trucks and another for faster private cars.

Investigation Is Completed

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Dauphin County special grand jury has completed its six-month investigation of the affairs of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

District Attorney Huette F. Dowling refused to confirm officially that the inquiry was ended, in keeping with court-imposed restrictions binding those connected with it to secrecy. But he said "We are not calling witnesses at this time, nor do we contemplate calling any in the future."

The grand jury has been studying virtually all phases of the commission's activities.

It's first presentment issued Jan. 18 resulted in indictments by a regular grand jury of 22 persons on criminal conspiracy charges in connection with an alleged multi-million dollar swindle of turnpike funds through contracts for mine billing work on the Northeastern Extension. Among those named were former Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale Republican, and Republican Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export.

Commission Chairman G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh Democrat, was indicted for misconduct in office, for allegedly supplying a chauffeur to Evans after Evans left office.

Virtually all the defendants, who are scheduled for trial during the June session of Dauphin County Criminal Court, have appealed to the state Supreme Court.

McSorley and Torrance also appealed to the high court against the action of Gov. George M. Leader in suspending them from their posts pending outcome of the cases.

Red Buttons Changing Into Dramatic Actor

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Red Buttons, a short-lived sensation on television, is rising from the ashes as a changed character—a dramatic actor in the movies.

Little Red was the George Gobel of TV back in 1953 in the dear, old days of straight windshields and Italian hair-cuts.

But, as TV victims know, fans are as fickle as the flick of a dial, and the hungry medium can burn up a career that in movies or on radio might have lasted a decade. After three years and 34 writers, Red was sent to the showers.

Now he's begun a new career that may turn out bigger than the old. Red copped a plum role, star billing in a Marlon Brando picture, "Sayonara."

Director Josh Logan thinks Red's role may do for him what "From Here to Eternity" did to a then-slipping singer, Frank Sinatra.

"I'm awfully young to be having a comeback," the 32-year-old comedian grinned. "I couldn't be happier—I have the best part of my career ahead of me. This is a straight dramatic part, not one gag.

"Of course," he added wryly, "some of my comedy shows turned out that way."

In his TV days Red was famed for hiring small armies of writers. As he says, "I opened a Chinese fortune cookie when we were on location in Japan for 'Sayonara' and it said, 'help me. I'm a writer for Red Buttons.'"

"I hired a lot of writers because I was trying to get a good show," he explained.

Red reflected on his slide out of TV and said "the trouble starts when you realize during the second year how good you were the first year. The first year you're numb. You lose perspective. You look through very rose-colored glasses.

"When you sittle down and have time to think, that fear starts. You say, 'I've got to stay up there. I want to last forever, I have to be better.'

Radio Pill to Help Science

NEW YORK (UP) —A radio pill which can broadcast a running commentary as it passes through the human digestive tract was displayed Monday by its scientific inventors.

As easy to swallow as an aspirin tablet, the tiny transmitter is expected to be of particular usefulness in studying certain disorders of the colon and in increasing medical knowledge of the muscular operations of the intestinal system.

The pill is a plastic capsule about one and one-eighth inches long and four-tenths of an inch in diameter. Inside it is a transistor oscillator whose frequency is modified continually by the variations in pressure to which it is exposed One end of the capsule is a pressure sensitive rubber diaphragm which transmits those pressure changes to the broadcast unit.

The pill was developed and demonstrated by Dr. Vladimir K. Zworykin, affiliate in biophysics in the Medical Electronics Center of the Rockefeller Institute and Honorary vice president of the Radio Corp of America, and Dr John T. Farrar, chief of the gastroenterology section of the new Veterans Administration Hospital and assistant professor of clinical medicine at Cornell University College of Medicine. The pill was engineered by RCA and will be tested jointly by RCA, the Rockefeller Institute and the VA.

Director Names Smoke Violators

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Allegheny County Smoke Control director Thomas C. Wurts Tuesday accused six big industries as smoke violators and urged criminal action against the firms.

U.S. Steel Corp., with its Irvin, Edgar Thomson and Christy Park plants cited, headed the list Wurts submitted to county commissioners. Others charged with "making excessive smoke" during March included Duquesne Light Co., West Penn Power Co., Lockhart Iron and Steel Works, McKees Rocks; Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Co., McKeesport; and Pittsburgh Coke and Chemical Co., Neville Island.

Civic Light Opera Schedule Is Released

Plans for the 1957 season of the Civic Light Opera Association of Greater Pittsburgh have been released.

Six shows will be presented this year in the association's "Theatre Under The Stars" at Pitt Stadium. The season will open June 24 and close Aug. 3.

The Broadway hit "Silk Stockings" will open the season on June 24. The succeeding five shows, each playing for one week at Pitt Stadium, will be: "The Great Waltz," July 1-6; "Pajama Game," July 8-13, "Carousel," July 15 - 20; "Damn Yankees," July 22-27; and "Fanny," July 29 - Aug. 3.

"The Great Waltz" and "Fanny" have been brought into the 1957 season as replacements for the light opera English version of "Carmen" and the new American folk opera "The Ballad of Baby Doe," both of which were announced recently in a tentative repertory.

"The policy of bringing top-flight stars to appear in all Civic Light Opera productions will be continued this year," William Wymetal, CLO managing director, stated.

As all roles have not yet been filled, announcement of the stars who will play at Pitt Stadium during the 1957 season will be made later, Wymetal said.

Wymetal will be assisted by Robert Gordon, stage director; Furth Ullman, scene designer; Karl Kritz, musical director; and Eddie Noll, choreographer.

Wymetal soon will conduct auditions for dancers in Pittsburgh with Noll, and later will conduct auditions for singers with Kritz. Announcements of the audition dates and places will be made later.

Support for the Civic Light Opera has not waned, Edward H. Young, CLO executive secretary, said. "It is apparent every year that we have more and more 'old' friends, and that it is being realized by more and more people that the association offers the greatest cultural and recreational asset to the Greater Pittsburgh district during the time of year the association is actively engaged in its productions," Young added.

The association this year is offering a reduced-rate season subscription plan, which allows persons availing themselves of the plan to see all six shows — on the night of their choice and in the section of their choice — for the price of five shows.

Under the season subscription plan, box seats may be purchased for $22.40; terrace seats for $19.60; loge seats for $15.30; reserved grandstand seats for $12.75; and general admission seats for $5.60. Single performance prices range from $1.10 to $4.40.

City and suburban ticket offices will open June 17. Mail orders now are being accepted at the Civic Light Opera Association, 429 Diamond St. Pittsburgh.

The association again will offer students the opportunity to see all the shows, every Monday, at half price. This is available through "The First Nighter Club," and promotion of this program will start later this month through schools, church youth groups and scout groups.

Sharon Gets Hospital Boss

SHARON, Pa. (UP) — Eugene J. O'Meara, assistant superintendent of Altoona hospitals, was named administrator of Sharon General Hospital, it was announced Tuesday.

A lecturer for hospital administration at the University of Pittsburgh School of Public Health, O'Meara will assume his new post June 1.

O'Meara succeeds C. Robert Youngquist, who was a prime mover of the hospital's million dollar expansion program. Youngquist is current president of the Pennsylvania Hospital Association and has been associated with the hospital eight years.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Ralph Marino, who died 19 years ago today, April 10, 1938.
They say time heals all sorrows,
And helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by his children and grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Bessie Watson, who died one year ago today, April 10, 1956.
'Twas just one year ago today,
Our hearts were made to weep,
As we watched our beloved mother pass away
Into that quiet sleep.
Beautiful memories of you so dear,
We cherish still with love sincere,
A day that comes with sad regret
And one that we will never forget.
We love you still, no tongue can tell
How deep, how dearly and how well.
Sadly missed by husband, John Watson and Family

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Sanc, who passed away two years ago today, April 10, 1955.
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by Children and Grandchildren

Aim for Better Diplomats

WASHINGTON (UP)—A bi-partisan group of 10 congressmen said today that "in the diplomacy of this age there are places where a tough halfback from the University of Michigan could do a better job than a Phi Beta Kappa who speaks a dozen languages."

They introduced a joint resolution proposing a commission to study "ways and means of expanding and modernizing the foreign service."

"Many of our young people subconsciously believe there is a silken curtain' between them and the foreign service," the congressmen said. "Rightly or wrongly, they have the vague impression that the foreign service is for a special group in our society."

They said. "this unhappy feeling is increased when they read that some of our highest diplomatic posts, where costly entertaining is a factor, are in effect 'reserved' for wealthy persons.

The congressmen said the proposed commission should recommend creation of a foreign service training institute and the possibility of on-the-job training for future diplomats. They also expressed approval of a "crash" program to recruit foreign service officers.

They said these moves were necessary to "move our diplomatic system from the mid-Victorian to the jet age."

The group said their proposed commission should be composed of eight representatives of Congress and 15 to be appointed by the President from among representatives of business, labor, the professions and colleges.

The congressmen sponsoring the resolution included: Joseph L. Carrigg (R-Pa.).

Soviet Steel Industry Shows Much Expansion

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Soviet steel industry has advanced to a high point of efficiency and now compares favorably with that of any other country, two British iron and steel authorities said Tuesday.

L. E. W. Voice and S. Klemantaski of the British Iron and Steel Research Assn. said that pig iron production in Rusia is expected to increase from 33,300,000 in 1955 to 53,000,000 tons by the end of the sixth five-year plan in 1960.

In a paper presented before a conference of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers here, the steel officials said "the likelihood of this target being reached may be judged from the fact that previous five-year plans have been realistic."

Plan Hearings On Crossings

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission will open hearings in Uniontown April 23 to determine whether additional protection is required at two grade crossings in Everson, Fayette County.

The hearings will open at 10 a.m. in the courthouse.

The PUC said the crossings are a block apart where Pennsylvania Railroad and Baltimore and Ohio tracks intersect near St. The crossings have fixed signs.

Traffic on the street is normally light but it is now used as a detour for U.S. 119 traffic during construction of a bridge in the borough.

The commission said the crossing conditions have apparently become dangerous. A truck driver was killed and a woman injured seriously in a freight train collision on the PRR crossing last Jan. 10.

Negro Bricklayers Barred from Union

MADISON, Wis. (P) — The Wisconsin Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that two Negro bricklayers can be barred from a Milwaukee labor union because of race.

The decision, by a 6-1 vote, supported the position of the AFL bricklayers' union that the court has no authority to change the "voluntary" fair employment code of 1945.

Great Britain did not give up some of its territorial claims in Michigan until 1796, 13 years after the close of the Revolutionary war.

Talk of Possible Tax Cuts Is Spreading In Congress Today

WASHINGTON (UP)— Talk of possible tax cuts spread Wednesday in Congress.

It was spurred by new cuts in President Eisenhower's record peacetime budget, pushing total House cuts so far to beyond the one billion dollar mark.

One influential Democrat said the President certainly would call for tax cuts next year. He said the Democrats should beat him to the punch.

Rep. Noah Mason (R-Ill.), a member of the tax-writing House Ways & Means Committee, said the House was certain to cut the budget enough for a tax cut this year.

A number of the economy bloc in the House predicted the cuts would pass the three billion mark.

But despite the talk, the Democratic leadership gave no sign it has decided to push for tax reduction. And the Senate remained a question mark. Even if the House did cut taxes, would the Senate sustain them?

Other congressional news:

McLeod: Some Democratic senators planned to give Scott McLeod an intensive questioning when his nomination as ambassador to Ireland comes up in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. They indicated they particularly want to question McLeod—currently State Department Security administrator — regarding his office's role in the case of suicide-victim E. Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt.

Corn: The Senate was expected to vote late Wednesday or Thursday on legislation boosting corn planting in the nation's main corn belt. Predictions of passage increased. However, similar legislation has been defeated twice already this year in the House.

Food Prices: A congressional report said retail food prices increased 16 per cent in the last 10 years while prices paid farmers for the same products declined 14 per cent. The House Consumer Study subcommittee drafted the report.

Censorship: Chairman John E. Moss of the House Information subcommittee accused Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson of barriers" to block the flow of Pentagon information. Moss issued the statement as his subcommittee summoned top Pentagon officials to testify on new Wilson information directives.

Ed Gardner to Drop Into TV on Saturday

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Ed Gardner who used to manage a tavern owned by an absentee proprietor named Duffy, will drop into TV this Saturday when NBC salutes that madness known as baseball.

Gardner, for the benefit of the recently weaned, is the fellow who used to play Archie on "Duffy's Tavern," one of radio's more mellow efforts. Now 55, a little balding and nursing an ulcer, Gardner works for an ad agency (J. Walter Thompson) in New York.

William Ewald

He is fairly rich, faintly irreverent and still speaks in the lush New York accent that made his Archie character one of the most captivating capers in the old medium.

"What do I do at the ad agency? Well, I'm a bit of a free soul there," said Gardner today. "You might call me a kind of floorwalker. I walk from one floor to the other to ask guys what's going on in the joint."

"Actually, I only work six months a year for the agency. The other six months I'm a bum. It's the way I want it. I've got a non-nerve straining job and I play around the edges of TV now and that's about all I need."

Gardner, whose last TV appearance was about a year ago on the Ed Sullivan show, will appear on NBC-TV's "Salute to Baseball" this weekend. He has, he admits, shied away from TV pretty much. His only sustained fling in the medium was a filmed version of "Duffy's Tavern" which is in syndication and still may be seen in outlying areas.

He's No Actor

"I was stiff on TV," confessed Gardner. "I'm not an actor. I got into this business by accident and when the show was done on TV, it was the first time I had ever worked without a script.

"Duffy's Tavern," which developed into a variety-comedy show, had its small beginnings back in the late 1930's when Gardner created the character of "Archie the Manager" for a radio opus called "This Is New York." Gardner wound up playing the role when other actors failed to pan out at auditions.

"I guess I played Archie for about 15 years," said Gardner. "In 1951, I retired and my wife and I took off for Europe. I had made enough loot so we didn't have to worry about dough—my wife is French and she loves it over there.

"Then we filmed it for TV in Hollywood for a year and then back to Europe again. To tell you the truth, I had about enough of Archie.

"However, I may get back for a little bit in the business. It looks like I may do some cartoon commercials for TV—I'll do the voices. It'll be a breeze and just enough work to satisfy the ham in me."

Boy Wonder Runs Pile to $160,000

NEW YORK (UP) — Robert Strom, a 10-year-old wonder who lives on scientific texts and a $2.50 monthly allowance, jacked up his quiz earnings to $160,000 Tuesday night — the highest peak ever reached on a single TV show.

Rob, a 51-inch, 65-pound fifth grader from the Bronx, N.Y., added a tentative $32,000 to his mounting pile on CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Question" by rattling through a series of posers in physics, aerodynamics, astronomy, mathematics and electronics. He had clinched $128,000 in winnings on the program by reaching the $64,000 level twice.

Your Health—

What Does Doctor's Little Black Bag Hold?

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Ever wonder what your doctor carries in that little bag of his?

It's pretty much up to the individual doctor to decide what he may need on any specific call or and diagnostic equipment for his general daily visits. But I think you'll find that most doctors carry at least some, if not all, of the following instruments.

They carry a stethoscope, of course, for listening to a patient's heart, breathing and other body sounds. A thermometer to check temperatures is an essential piece of equipment.

There will be tongue depressors, too, and probably an ophthalmoscope to inspect the eyes — and an otoscope to check the outer ear.

A sphygmomanometer, while it may be difficult to pronounce, is also an important piece of equipment. It measures blood pressure.

Sterile syringes and needles for administering injections of penicillin and other drugs and sterile surgical instruments for emergencies are usually found in a doctor's bag.

Of course, there also will be sterile bandages, cotton balls and applicators, adhesive tape, a tourniquet and maybe a reflex hammer and rubber gloves.

A most important item, prescription blanks, may be carried in the bag or in the doctor's pocket, but he always has them when making a call.

As for medicines, there is a wide range. But usually, the general practitioner will carry some of the following:

Codeine and demerol for controlling coughing and pain, epinephrine for allergic shock as asthma, hypnotics and sedatives, nitroglycerin and aminophylline for angina and coronary trouble, digitalis and derivatives for other heart ailments, antihistamines for hayfever and certain allergies, procaine as a local anesthesia, various antiseptics, and aspirin.

These, then, comprise the mysterious contents of your doctor's black bag.

Air Safety—

Much Care Is Going into Our Commercial Air Fleet Today

ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UP) — The oldest commercial airliner in service today is mechanically as new as an automobile with only 6,000 miles on its speedometer.

The fact exemplifies the care that goes into the construction and maintenance of America's 1,600-plane commercial air fleet.

New planes are tested for thousands of hours before they are officially certified as safe for carrying passengers. Airliners already in service are subjected to regular and frequent inspection. After every 8,000 hours of flight time, they literally are rebuilt.

All these safety measures, however, have never completely eliminated the "bugs" that seem to plague all types of aircraft. Almost every transport plane used by U.S. airlines since 1946 has suffered some kind of major mechanical malfunction that was undetected in all the pre-certification testing. And some of these difficulties have caused fatal crashes.

For example:

DC4s: The nation's first four-engined airliner was flown for hundreds of thousands of hours as a wartime transport. Yet all this operational experience failed to uncover a small but vita. weakness—a piece of bonding tape on the tail which, when worked loose, ballooned into the wind and created what amounted to a giant air brake. This defect sent one Eastern Airlines DC4 to its death, killing 50 persons.

The Eastern crash, on May 30, 1948, was an unsolved mystery until another DC4, almost three years later, went into a sudden dive and recovered only a few hundred feet from the ground. Examination of this aircraft revealed the culprit — the ripped bonding tape.

Constellation: This sleek, triple-tailed beauty was grounded temporarily a few years ago when a mid-air fire and subsequent crash revealed inherent weaknesses in the plane's electrical system.

DC6: In 1947, a United Airlines DC6 caught fire over Utah and crashed. Cause of the blaze was unknown until an American DC-6 also caught fire but managed to land safely. Investigators found a flaw in the plane's system for transferring fuel from one wing tank to another. Under certain conditions, overflowing gas would leak into the ducts of the cabin heater and ignite. Every DC6 was grounded for modification of the fuel tank system.

Martin 202: In 1948, one of these twin-engined transports operated by Northwest Airlines fell apart in a thunderstorm near Winona, Minn. One wing was found some distance from the rest of the wreckage and investigators suspected structural failure — which had not occurred on a scheduled airliner since 1931. Examination of Northwest's entire 202 fleet revealed fatigue cracks in the wings of five planes. The 202 was grounded until the weakness, an inadequate wing "flange," was corrected.

Stratocruiser: Several crashes involving this Boeing-built giant were blamed on failure of a new type of propellor.

DC7: In its early months of service, this fastest of piston-engined transports suffered an embarrassing number of in-flight engine failures until technicians solved a fuel mixture problem.

Viscount: A few weeks ago, one of these British-made turbo-prop planes crashed in England. The accident was caused by faulty bolts in the wing flaps. Later models of the airliner, used in this country by Capital Airlines, were immediately inspected to make sure they did not have a similar flaw. They didn't.

NEXT: Jet planes will be safer.

Would Change Juvenile Law

HARRISBURG (UP)—State Sen. Martin Silvert (D-Philadelphia) has offered legislation which would limit the juvenile court law to minors under 17 years of age.

Amendments to the law would change the definition of "child" from under 18 years to under 17 years and would exclude minors having a record for an "indictable offense" when over the age of 14 years.

An offender over 16 years of age but under 17 who has committed no crime after the age of 14 could be transferred to Juvenile Court at the discretion of the Criminal Court.
